Anglo Job Stoppage Spreading

Industrial Life Faces Paralysis

London, Oct. 18 (AP)—London's dock strike spread to the waterfront at Liverpool and Birkenhead today, threatening to paralyze the industrial life of this maritime nation.

Along Liverpool's five miles of smoke stained docks about half the 17,500 longshoremen refused to work ships. All Birkenhead's 2,000 dockers walked out.

Agitation to tie up Southampton, port of great transatlantic passenger lines, spread among dock workers there. The 83,000-ton liner Queen Elizabeth, inbound from New York, increased speed in order to berth early.

TEMPORARY dockers began unloading thousands of tons of tomatoes and bananas at Dover. Six ships, diverted there from London, were worked by an emergency labor force.

The waterfront strike spread after dockers at Liverpool and Birkenhead voted last night to quit work in support of the two-week old London strike.

Arthur Deakin, head of the 1½ million member Transport and General Workers Union to which most of the Liverpool dockers belong, urged the men to ignore the strike call. He termed a "trick" the strike vote claimed by a show of hands at a mass meeting.

MEANWHILE, there was no sign of a break in the strike by more than 20,000 of London's 45,000 bus drivers and conductors. Half the city's 7,600 buses were off the streets this morning. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Another Snag Worries GOP: Stringfellow

Salt Lake City, Oct. 18 (AP)—Troubled Utah Republican party leaders meet in Salt Lake City tonight to consider the political fate of a man they had thought—only 48 hours before—to be a shoe-in for the First District Congressional seat he now holds.

The meeting was hurriedly scheduled over the weekend after Rep. Douglas R. Stringfellow (R-Utah) Saturday night rocked the state with the disclosure that he was not, as he's claimed in many quarters including the Congressional Record, the hero of a secret, behind-the-lines mission into World War 2 Germany to capture atomic scientist Otto Hahn.

WITH TEARS running down his cheeks, the 32-year-old disabled veteran had appeared on a hastily arranged television program to say that his story of wartime cloak-and-dagger heroism—recounted "over a decade when I had made over 200 speeches in a single year"—was bogus.

Arterial Route Change May Be Made in City

Kingston's arterial route plan may be due for one important change from that originally outlined earlier this year, it was learned today.

A grade separation that would bring the spur leading to the thruway over one railroad, may be at a different point than originally planned, a state engineer indicated today.

The spur as shown in the "Kingston Area Urban Report" presented to Mayor Frederick H. Stang at the start of the year, would extend northwestward off Albany avenue and Broadway, to join the thruway in the interchange area.

IT WILL RUN generally in the same direction if the original plan is changed, but if a new location is selected for the grade separation, it may lead out of the city from a different point, the engineer said.

It was indicated that plans on this point are still indefinite and no proposed new location of the spur was mentioned. The route would overpass the New York Central mountain branch.

AS ORIGINALLY presented the plan also called for a small traffic circle to connect with Fair street extension. It was indicated that no change on this phase of the plan has been suggested, to date.

It was also planned originally to have a traffic circle, or triangular interchange system at Broadway, East St. James street, and Albany avenue. Engineers did not state whether a change due to a new grade separation site would affect this phase of the arterial system.

Project engineers, who recently submitted a preliminary draft of the plans for approval of the State Department of Public Works at Albany, are now working toward final approval of the project. They will include in the next draft recommendations made at the recent Albany hearing.

DeLuca Gives Forecast

Utica, Oct. 18 (AP)—George B. De Luca, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, says that if his party wins the Nov. 2 state elections it will provide "an administration comparable to that of Al Smith, Herbert Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt." The Bronx county district attorney, on a campaign swing upstate, declared at a Democratic rally here last night that the party's 1954 state ticket was "the best in years."

Delay Is Denied for Sheppard Trial Transfer Also Ruled Out

Cleveland, Oct. 18 (AP)—The trial judge today ordered the trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard on charges of slaying his pregnant wife to proceed without delay. He denied a defense motion for a continuance.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin turned down a defense request for a postponement of the trial. The defense wanted a delay in the face of widespread publicity.

THE DEFENSE also requested a change of venue—a transfer of the trial to some other county—but Judge Blythin held this in abeyance. He said the best test of whether a fair trial is possible in Cleveland will come with the actual selection of a jury.

Dr. Sheppard, 30-year-old Bay Village osteopath, is accused of badgering to death his 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, last July 4 in the bedroom of their home. She was four months pregnant at the time.

He insists he was innocent. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Miss Dodd Mistaken, Case Tells Spoke of Another Adelaide, He Says

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Republican senatorial candidate Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, in a dramatic defense of his sister, said yesterday she was not the Adelaide Case linked to purported Communist-front groups in a published report.

The report, Case told a television audience, apparently was based on mistaken identity. However, Case said his 42-year-old sister, whom he described as "a loyal American," told him last year "while under treatment for a severe nervous disorder" that she "had an association with a left-wing study group."

HE PICTURED his sister Adelaide's account as "confused and disconnected" but said he (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Worst of Ohio Flood Appears to Be Over

Marietta, O., Oct. 18 (AP)—The Ohio river is dumping its flood waters downriver after chasing thousands from their homes in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The worst of the flood appeared over today, with the river falling at Wheeling, W. Va., after cresting there at 44.7 feet yesterday. It was that city's biggest flood since March 8, 1945, when the Ohio reached 47.3 feet.

With water trickling into streets and flooding basements in Marietta today, the weather bureau forecast a crest of 41 feet—five feet above flood level—by midnight tonight.

Nobody appeared very worried.

Some 25 families moved out of the lowlands to higher ground. Downtown merchants in this southeastern Ohio city of 16,000 hoisted stocks from basements to upper floors. But the consensus among oldtime residents was that the flood will cause little damage.

The final flood threat is expected at dam 22, about midway between here and Huntington, W. Va., where the river is scheduled to crest at 45 feet tomorrow. Flood stage is 44 feet.

Flood damage at Wheeling was estimated in the millions by Col. J. L. Person, Ohio river division engineer.

More than 400 families left homes in Jefferson, Belmont and Monroe counties in Ohio over the weekend as rain water sent over Pennsylvania mountains by hurricane Hazel filled the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Those rivers from the Ohio at Pittsburgh, The Ohio crest at that point Saturday night was 32.5 feet—more than 5 feet above flood level—but damage reportedly was light.

Col. Person credited flood control systems installed above Pittsburgh with saving that city some 80 million dollars.

At least four persons were killed by turbulent waters in the Pittsburgh area. There have been no other reports of Ohio river flood casualties.

Seven Are In Offices First Time MacMillan Choice Is Used as Key

London, Oct. 18 (AP)—A wholesale reshuffle of the British Conservative government brought seven new members into Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet today.

A total of 17 other ministerial posts changed hands in a big shakeup read by most political observers as a sign Churchill's retirement is not in the cards at this time although he will be 80 on Nov. 30.

The most significance in this connection was attached to the appointment of Housing Minister Harold MacMillan to succeed retiring Earl Alexander as minister of defense.

MacMILLAN, a 60-year-old book publisher, has been considered a likely successor to Anthony Eden in the post of foreign secretary if and when the heir apparent to the aged Churchill steps into the premiership. But, as the Independent, usually well informed London Times commented:

"It is unthinkable that Sir Winston Churchill would have moved him to such a key post as minister of defense if within a short time he were going to be moved out again."

It generally is conceded that Churchill will continue to head the government indefinitely in quest of what he has described as "this last great prize I seek to win"—lasting peace between the western world and the Soviet Union.

IN ADDITION to MacMillan, other new cabinet members are: Minister of Housing and Local Government—Duncan Sandys, 46, Churchill's son-in-law.

Minister of Education—Sir David Eccles, 50, formerly minister of works, he managed arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's coronation.

Lord Chancellor—Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, 53. He will preside over the House of Lords and serve as the nation's highest judicial officer.

Minister of Food and Agriculture—Derrick Heathcoat-Amory, 54.

Home Secretary and Minister of State for Welsh Affairs—Gwilym Lloyd-Greiger, 59.

Osbert Peake, 57, minister of pensions and national insurance. He already held the post, but the shakeup gives him cabinet rank.

Four ministers who desired to return to private life resigned. They were:

Alexander, 62-year-old wartime field marshal who quit the defense post; Lord Simonds, 72, lord chancellor; Sir Leonel Heald, 57, attorney general; Miss Florence Horsbrough, 63, minister of education.

NEW MEN in ministerial posts of non-cabinet rank include: Attorney general—Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, 49, former solicitor general.

Minister of supply—Selwyn Lloyd, 50, former minister of state and Britain's representative at the UN Security Council. Minister of state—H. Anthony Nutting, 34, former undersecretary of state in the foreign office. It was not immediately known whether he would replace Lloyd at the United Nations.

Ives Says Opponent Unaware of Good

Rome, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives today called Averell Harriman, Democratic candidate for governor, an "international traveler" who had been absent from the state so long he was unaware of the humanitarian services he said were provided citizens by the state's Republican administration.

The Republican candidate for governor accused Harriman of being "so accustomed to normal Democrat maladministration that he simply cannot understand what has been accomplished for all our people . . . under the liberal direction of us Republicans."

Ives replied to what he called a recent "shocking statement" by Harriman that the state has been "backward in providing humanitarian services for its citizens."

THE SENATOR arrived here from Buffalo to open the sixth day of a seven-day upstate tour. His itinerary called for stops today at Herkimer, Johnstown, Gloversville, Amsterdam, and Albany, where he was scheduled to address the annual rally of the Albany county Republican organization tonight.

Ives, in his prepared address before a luncheon meeting of the Oneida County Republican Committee, said "a Democrat administration with its careless disregard of this humanitarian field had been in Albany for a good many years" when Harriman "left us to take over his variety of government jobs." He added parenthetically:

"He (Harriman) was at Yalta you remember and had a major part in framing the infamous Yalta agreement."

IVES SAID he would like to "educate my opponent who looks across our state through the gloom-tinted glasses of Tammany" by citing "just a few of the things we have done for our children."

He said more than 10 million dollars has been devoted to a youth commission program to fight juvenile delinquency in 800 communities. The rate of juvenile crime in the state, he added, has decreased from 7.5 per thousand in 1945 to 5.8 per thousand in 1953.

THE NUMBER of state university and college scholarships, Ives said, has been increased to 1,694 and their value has been increased to $350. Grants for dependent children, he added, have gone up from $50 per month to $123.

Under a Republican administration, Ives said, the state acquired for the first time a cerebral palsy program and a state-aid program for 30,000 foster home children has been established.

Emotionally disturbed children, he said, are now being treated at three pilot treatment centers in the state.

UNDER A NEW program of local school districts, he said, 17,000 mentally retarded children are attending special classes designed to meet their particular needs.

The state Legislature in 1949, Ives continued, passed a series of laws to fight the black market in the adoption of babies, and he added:

"Reforms in our laws now provide stiff sentences, including life imprisonment, for sex offenders against children."

Ives said these programs were "the work of unselfish men who (Continued on Page 9, Col. 6)

Truck Traffic Is Normal Again

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—A two-day trucking tie-up that had threatened the economic life of the Metropolitan area seemed to be petering out today.

Employers flocked to local offices of the AFL Teamsters to sign up on union terms despite the threat of one employer spokesman that a 10-million damage suit would be filed during the day against the teamsters and seven companies which had earlier disrupted the unified employer front by signing agreements.

THERE WERE, however, sharply conflicting estimates as to the volume of trucking into and out of New York City.

City police at the Holland and Lincoln tunnels—the two vehicular arteries under the Hudson river to New Jersey—said big and little cargo carriers were moving "without any evidence of a strike."

Sales Tax Threat Exists, McGovern Says of Harriman

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says that if Averell Harriman is elected governor the state would "face the prospect of a sales tax."

McGovern calls the Democratic-Liberal Party candidate for governor the "chief exponent of the spend-and-tax formula of the New and Fair Deals."

McGovern also said yesterday:

"From reckless promises being made, there is a real danger that when all other tax sources were drained dry by the Democrats and they had dissipated the state surplus, they would turn to a state sales tax to fulfill their socialist-minded schemes."

Referring to Democratic spending bills in the Legislature last year, McGovern called the Democrats "a real tax-happy crew." He said a Democratic administration at Albany "would take the state from its sound Republican finance base and send it whirling on a tax spree that would drive business and job opportunities from New York."

J. T. Sheehan Dies, Ex-Guard Leader

Brig. Gen. John T. Sheehan (Ret.), 65, of 271 Third street, Newburgh, commander of the 56th Infantry of the New York National Guard from 1940 to 1948, died at his home Saturday night.

A fourth generation army man, Sheehan entered the Guard in 1906 and rose through the ranks, serving as captain with the 106th Infantry, Army Expeditionary Force, during World War I. He held several American and foreign decorations for his service in the line in this country and abroad in 1916-18. He also served as instructor at the General Staff College and School of the Line at Langre, France.

He was appointed colonel in the New York State Guard in 1940 and was requested by the governor to organize the 56th Infantry, New York State Guard, with units at Catskill, Kingston, Middletown, Peekskill, White Plains, Yonkers and Mt. Vernon. Headquarters of the unit was at Newburgh. The 56th Regiment was continued in active state service from 1940 to 1948 when it was relieved by the newly organized National Guard.

AS COMMANDING OFFICER of the regiment, Gen. Sheehan directed the various camp tours of the 56th Infantry and participated in its other activities in the Hudson Valley area and at the Second Service Command Tactical School at Hackettstown, N. J. In 1946 he was among 17

high officers to form an honor guard at the inauguration of Gov. Dewey. He was appointed brigadier general in 1949. Gen. Sheehan served as president of the 56th Infantry, New York Guard Officers Association and was among honored guests and speakers attending the seventh annual dinner meeting of that organization about two weeks ago.

HE WAS BORN in 1889 in Newburgh, son of Maj. James F. Sheehan and the late Mary Jane Tighe. He was a graduate of Newburgh Free Academy. Besides his father he is survived by his widow, the former Josephine M. Creedon; two brothers, Frank of Newburgh and Henry of Rochester; a sister, Margaret of Newburgh; and a niece, Helene Sheehan of Rochester.

He was employed in the stores department of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company, Inc., until his retirement last June. In addition to his membership in the National Guard Officers Association, he was a member of the Army and Navy Club, Military Society of World War I, Military Order of World War I, Century Club, American Legion, Veterans Association of the 106th Regiment, Knights of Columbus, St. Mary's Holy Name Society and St. Mary's Church.

Nazarene Church To Show Graham Crusade Tuesday

London Crusade, an hour-long documentary of the three-month campaign held by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown Tuesday night in the Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf street at Wiltyck avenue, at 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

Filed entirely in England, the picture is Britain's own story of the campaign, covering the entire series of history-making services concluding with the great White City and Wembley Stadium meetings where a total of 200,000 gathered for the closing rallies.

The doors of the Nazarene Church will be open at 6:30 with the first showing at 7 o'clock. All seats are on a first-come basis. There will be no admission and the public is invited.

asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to look into it. Because he didn't hear from Hoover, Case said he concluded "there was nothing to my sister's story." Case's speech did not identify the "left-wing study group." In Washington, the FBI declined comment on Case's reference to Hoover.

Case labeled a report which appeared in last Thursday's editions of the Newark Star-Ledger as "a vicious smear campaign" and "dirty business." The newspaper story, Case said, purported "to link my younger sister Adelaide to a Communist-front activity, which in 1943, was organized to seek the release of Morris Schappes."

"SCHAPPES WAS A New York college professor who had been sent to prison for living about 3 p. m. Sunday that the articles stolen would be found under a tree not far from the lodge. Authorities Probe Reported Theft

A reported burglary which may have originated as a practical joke is under investigation by the sheriff's office.

A suitcase containing clothing and music arrangements, and a handbag, were reported taken from the entertainers' dressing room at Mirror Lake Lodge at Ulster Park about 3:10 a. m. Sunday. The suitcase belonged to Ida May Simmons of Brooklyn, who uses the stage name of Ida May, and the handbag was owned by Mrs. Evelyn Graves of New York city, who uses the stage name of A. Merrill, according to the report.

During the investigation, a deputy sheriff received a call about 3 p. m. Sunday that the articles stolen would be found under a tree not far from the lodge. A check disclosed the articles were at the place described, and contents of both bags apparently were intact. Jailer Carl Cline and Deputies Harrison Rose and Thomas Mayone participated in the investigation.

Mrs. Harvey Todd Dies in Woodstock

Mrs. Mildred Wyckoff Todd, 65, wife of the Rev. Harvey I. Todd of Woodstock, died Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of the Woodstock Reformed Church of which her husband has been pastor for more than 30 years.

Well known and loved throughout Woodstock and Ulster county, Mrs. Todd was active for many years in the work of the Reformed Church and was a member of the Lydian and Missionary Societies of that church.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Todd was employed by the Federal Reserve Bank and the Brooklyn Public Library System. During World War I, she was active in Red Cross work in Brooklyn.

She came to Woodstock 29 years ago, largely through the influence of her cousin, the late Ted Perkins, former owner of the Woodstock Publishing Company. With her mother, she started the Woodstock Tearoom at the site of the present Woodstock Bakery, later moving to Route 375 where the present home of Roland D'Albis is located.

Her marriage to the Rev. Mr. Todd came within a few years of her coming to Woodstock, and she continued to take an active interest in village and church life.

DURING WORLD WAR 2, she was chairman of the Woodstock Unit of the American Red Cross. She was a member of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee; a charter member of the Woodstock Home Bureau; past master of the Clinton Chapter 435, Order of the Eastern Star, of Kingston; and member of Agapee Rebekah Lodge of Bearsville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Todd were honored in May of this year upon his completion of 30 years as pastor of the Woodstock Reformed Church. They had only recently moved into a new parsonage, the former Riseley home, next to the church.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are a son, Stephen L. Todd; three grandchildren; and an aunt, Mrs. H. C. Pierce of Plainfield, N. J.

The funeral will be held at the Woodstock Reformed Church on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 2 p. m. Service will be conducted by the Rev. Onley E. Cook of Woodstock, assisted by the Rev. Frederick K. Shield and the Rev. F. Alvin Langwith. The casket will not be opened in the church. Cremation will be at the Gardner Earl Crematory at Troy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—The stock market was nominally higher today but gains were below the best of the session.

Motors, rubber producers, aircrafts, oils and copper mining issues tended to improve moderately. Steels and railroads steadied after a strong start. Utilities, chemicals and airlines were narrowly mixed.

Trading began fast with a number of large blocks crossing the high speed ticker tape at higher prices. But the pace soon slowed and by early afternoon many gains had been reduced.

Among the risers were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Lockheed Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, Air Reduction, Westinghouse, Southern Railway and American Airlines.

Lower were United Aircraft, Zenith, International Telephone, Dome Mining, American Cyanamid, American Tobacco, Santa Fe and Standard Oil (N. J.).

J.T. Sheehan Dies, Ex-Guard Leader

Brig. Gen. John T. Sheehan (Ret.), 65, of 271 Third street, Newburgh, commander of the 56th Infantry of the New York National Guard from 1940 to 1948, died at his home Saturday night.

A fourth generation army man, Sheehan entered the Guard in 1906 and rose through the ranks, serving as captain with the 106th Infantry, Army Expeditionary Force, during World War I. He held several decorations for his service in the line in this country and abroad in 1916-18. He also served as instructor at the General Staff College and School of the Line at Langre, France.

He was appointed colonel in the New York State Guard in 1940 and was requested by the governor to organize the 56th Infantry, New York State Guard, with units at Catskill, Kingston, Middletown, Peekskill, White Plains, Yonkers and Mt. Vernon. Headquarters of the unit was at Newburgh. The 56th Regiment was continued in active state service from 1940 to 1948 when it was relieved by the newly organized National Guard.

AS COMMANDING OFFICER of the regiment, Gen. Sheehan directed the various camps out of the 56th Infantry and participated in its other activities in the Hudson Valley area and at the Second Service Command Tactical School at Hackettstown, N. J. In 1946 he was among 17

high officers to form an honor guard at the inauguration of Gov. Dewey. He was appointed brigadier general in 1949. Gen. Sheehan served as president and later honorary president of the 56th Infantry, New York Guard Officers Association and was among honored guests and speakers at the annual meeting of that organization about two weeks ago.

HE WAS BORN in 1889 in Newburgh, son of Maj. James F. Sheehan and the late Mary Jane Tighe. He was a graduate of Newburgh Free Academy. Besides his father he is survived by his widow, the former Josephine M. Creedon; two brothers, Frank of Newburgh and Henry of Rochester; a sister, Margaret of Newburgh, and a niece, Helene Sheehan of Rochester.

He was employed in the stores department of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company, Inc., until his retirement last June. In addition to his membership in the National Guard Officers Association, he was a member of the Army and Navy Club, Military Society of World War I, Military Order of World War I, Century Club, American Legion, Veterans Association of the 106th Regiment, Knights of Columbus, St. Mary's Holy Name Society and St. Mary's Church.

The funeral will be held at 9:15 a. m. tomorrow from the residence, thence to St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered at 10 a. m. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Nazarene Church To Show Graham Crusade Tuesday

London Crusade, an hour-long documentary of the three-month campaign held by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown Tuesday night in the Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf street at Willwyck avenue, at 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

Financed entirely in England, the picture is Britain's own story of the campaign, covering the entire series of history-making services concluding with the great White City and Wembley Stadium meetings where a total of 200,000 gathered for the closing rallies.

The doors of the Nazarene Church will be open at 6:30 with the first showing at 7 o'clock. All seats are on a first-come basis. There will be no admission and the public is invited.

Memorial

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. E. T. Todd, who passed away 17 years ago today, Oct. 18, 1937.

From this world of pain and sorrow,

To the land of peace and rest,

God has taken you, dear loved one,

Where you have found eternal rest.

Daughter, JENNIE MAY

Memorial

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Elva Love, who passed away on October 18, 1947.

Seven years have passed since that sad day,

The one we loved was called away,

God took her home, it was His will,

But in our hearts she liveth still.

Signed,

HUSBAND, DAUGHTER & SON

Miss Dodd

asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to look into it.

Because he didn't hear from Hoover, Case said he concluded "there was nothing to my sister's story." Case's speech did not identify the "left-wing study group." In Washington, the FBI declined comment on Case's reference to Hoover.

Case labeled a report which appeared in last Thursday's edition of the Newark Star-Ledger as "a vicious smear campaign" and "dirty business."

The newspaper story, Case said, purported "to link my younger sister Adelaide to a Communist-front activity, which in 1943, was organized to seek the release of Morris Schappes."

"SCHAPPES WAS A New York college professor who had been sent to prison for lying about his Communist affiliations," the GOP nominee said. "The basis for this allegation (by the Star-Ledger) was a statement attributed to Bella Dodd, a former Communist, that there had been an Adelaide Case active in this group."

"Adelaide Case mentioned by Bella Dodd was not my sister. Apparently Miss Dodd referred to another Adelaide Case who was a college professor in New York city and who died in 1948."

Case said he talked to his sister on Thursday and that she referred to the study group and "recalled that she met a small group of people that got together several times a month to discuss political issues on the wartime period."

THERE WAS NOTHING in what she told him, Case said, "to suggest that this had been anything more than a completely open association—an association which ended years ago."

"What she may or may not have done in illness has nothing to do with the way she feels or believes now."

Case said that if the "people responsible" for the newspaper story had bothered to look for facts instead of being blinded by their desire to hurt me," they would have learned that the Adelaide Case known by Miss Dodd in 1943 was a middle-aged woman, and that his sister was only 31 at the time.

HIS SISTER, he said, was teaching physical education in Boston and was not in the New York area then.

Case's sister is now a physical education instructor at the Kingswood School for Girls in Cranbrook, Mich., near Detroit.

She returned to Detroit last night from New York, and, he said, immediately. She has made no statement. A spokesman at the school said last Thursday that Miss Case left for New York after receiving a telephone call.

Miss Dodd was quoted in the original Star-Ledger story as saying she knew an Adelaide Case alleged to be a Communist front organization, but that the woman was not a Communist.

Of his sister, Case said: "I will not repudiate her. I love her just as dearly as you love yours. . . . smear me if you can. Leave my sister alone."

THE STAR-LEDGER, in a statement released for publication last night, charged that its position in the controversy "has been cruelly and brazenly misrepresented," and added:

"If there is any smearing at this stage, it is aimed at the Star-Ledger."

The statement said the newspaper was disappointed that Case "speeched in his television speech to acknowledge that the Star-Ledger had been fair and courteous enough to give him, before it was due for publication, a typewritten duplicate of the story last Wednesday, when he read it, folded it, put it in his pocket and refused to discuss it."

The matter concerning Adelaide Case, the newspaper said, was brought to light, and averted a last-minute smear campaign by Case's enemies.

THE STAR-LEDGER said on Saturday that Miss Dodd never had identified the Adelaide Case she referred to as the sister of the senatorial candidate.

Following Case's televised talk, Bernard Shanley, special counsel to President Eisenhower, commented in Washington.

"I'm frank to say Clifford Case has not failed any of his supporters because he has fully stated all he knows about the situation with his usual forthrightness and courage. I am convinced that the people of New Jersey will accept his statement and that he will be elected to the Senate on Nov. 2."

RUNNING AGAINST Case for the seat being vacated by Republican Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson is Democrat Charles R. Howell.

Howell has disclaimed any connection with the reports mentioning Adelaide Case. While campaigning on Saturday Howell said he was glad the Democratic Party was not involved, and that he considered Case to be a "patriotic American."

Case's candidacy is opposed by a group of conservative Republicans, the Committee for a Stronger New Jersey Republican Party, which also says it had nothing to do with the reports.

Case, during his talk yesterday, said "I blame no party" for what he called the rumors and whispering campaigns about his sister, "although I regret to say that members of my own party were involved as well as members of the opposition."

Grange News

ULSTER GRANGE will hold a booster night program Wednesday at 8 p. m., according to Hilda Hopkins. Families and friends of members are invited. Entertainment will be given by the Ulster Park Kids.

Authorities Probe Reported Theft

A reported burglary which may have originated as a practical joke is under investigation by the sheriff's office.

A suitcase containing clothing and music arrangements, and a handbag, were reported taken from the entertainers' dressing room at Mirror Lake Lodge at Ulster Park about 3:10 a. m. Sunday. The suitcase belonged to Ida May Simmons of Brooklyn, who uses the stage name of Ida May, and the handbag was owned by Mrs. Evelyn Graves of New York city, who uses the stage name of A. Merrill, according to the report.

During the investigation, a deputy sheriff received a call about 3 p. m. Sunday that the articles stolen would be found under a tree not far from the lodge. A check disclosed the articles were at the place described, and contents of both bags apparently were intact.

Jailor Carl Cline and Deputy Harrison Rose and Thomas Mayone participated in the investigation.

Mrs. Harvey Todd Dies in Woodstock

Mrs. Mildred Wyckoff Todd, 65, wife of the Rev. Harvey I. Todd of Woodstock, died Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of the Woodstock Reformed Church of which her husband has been pastor for more than 30 years.

Well known and loved throughout Woodstock and Ulster county, Mrs. Todd was active for many years in the work of the Reformed Church and was a member of the Lydian and Missionary Societies of that church.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Todd was employed by the Federal Reserve Bank and the Brooklyn Public Library System. During World War I, she was active in Red Cross work in Brooklyn.

She came to Woodstock 29 years ago, largely through the influence of her cousin, the late Ted Perkins, former owner of the Woodstock Publishing Company. With her mother, she started the Woodstock Tearoom at the site of the present Woodstock Bakery, later moving to Route 375 where the present home of Roland D'Albis is located.

Her marriage to the Rev. Mr. Todd came within a few years of her coming to Woodstock, and she continued to take an active interest in village and church life.

DURING WORLD WAR 2, she was chairman of the Woodstock Unit of the American Red Cross. She was a member of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee; a charter member of the Woodstock Home Bureau; past matron of Clinton Chapter 435, Order of the Eastern Star, of Kingston; and member of Agapee Rebekah Lodge of Bearsville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Todd were honored in May of this year upon his completion of 30 years as pastor of the Woodstock Reformed Church. They had only recently moved into a new parsonage, the former Risley home, next to the church.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are a son, Stephen L. Todd; three grandchildren; and an aunt, Mrs. H. C. Pierce of Plainfield, N. J.

The funeral will be held at the Woodstock Reformed Church on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 2 p. m. Service will be conducted by the Rev. Onley E. Cook of Woodstock, assisted by the Rev. Frederick K. Shield and the Rev. F. Alvin Langwith. The casket will not be opened in the church. Cremation will be at the Gardner Earl Crematory at Troy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—The stock market was nominally higher today but gains were below the best of the session.

Motors, rubber producers, aircrafts, oils and copper mining issues tended to improve moderately. Steels and railroads steadied after a strong start. Utilities, chemicals and airlines were narrowly mixed.

Trading began fast with a number of large blocks crossing the high speed ticker tape at higher prices. But the pace soon slowed and by early afternoon many gains had been reduced.

Among the risers were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Lockheed Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, Air Reduction, Westinghouse, Southern Railway and American Airlines.

Lower were United Aircraft, Zenith, International Telephone, Dome Mining, American Cyanamid, American Tobacco, Santa Fe and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Easy Cash Terms Propel Housing Boom in Nation

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—A new phase of the housing boom is under way. It is powered by easy money.

Mortgage investors say today they apparently have the blessing of Washington, judging both by the new Federal Housing Act and the treasury's policy toward the federal debt. They think nothing will halt the boom as long as people go on craving new or larger homes—on easy terms.

Applications for mortgage insurance are piling up in the offices of the Federal Housing Administration—in some areas 10-week backlogs appear. FHA has decided to let home builders start construction before the agency processes the applications.

THE RUSH to borrow to build may push the mortgage loan total for the year near 22 billion dollars, the Home Loan Bank board believes. Last year 19% billion dollars worth were written.

Home building in September was at a record level, the Commerce and Labor Departments report. F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing specialists, say residential building contracts in the states east of the Rockies were 53 per cent higher in September than for the same month a year ago.

The men who finance the mortgages say that if the Treasury took a new tack on the federal debt when the next big refinancing comes up in December and started tightening money again, the resultant withdrawal of idle money from the home mortgage market would quickly choke off the building boom, which is the big prop to prosperity right now.

"The new housing law has given renewed impetus to the speculative operations of enterprising single-family home builders," says George W. Warnecke, president of the mortgage investment firm bearing his name.

IN HIS OPINION the new law, plus the Treasury's easy money policy (in deciding against long-term bonds last month) has made clear the government's "determination to keep construction at an even pace of one million or more homes a year."

He says interest rates have eased in recent months and may ease further. He finds that the best yields, in relation to the security offered, can be obtained in centers of demand like St. Louis, Boston, Chicago, Atlanta, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Dallas.

But Warnecke has words of caution for those with funds to invest. "In a buoyant market," he says, "single-family home buyers are often young husbands with little established earning capacity. Only careful credit investigation can synch out good loans from among the large number of applications. Unless independently screened, FHA loans offer no perfect insurance against large-scale losses in the future."

INFLATION is the chief bugaboo of mortgage investors because it whittles at the value of the dollar. Warnecke believes that loans on apartment houses, shopping centers or other large projects are about 50 per cent more inflation-proof than loans on single family housing, where values change more.

Funds that can be tapped for mortgages continue to grow. The United States Savings and Loan League, whose members are a source for much of the financing of the nation's new homes, reports the flow of savings into their coffers in the first part of this year ran 18 per cent ahead of a year ago. Insurance companies, who often finance larger building projects, report gains in available funds. And so do the commercial banks.

Lower down-payments, longer periods of payment, easier rates and the pool of available money to tap which the treasury and the Federal Reserve System is maintaining—all feed the latest housing boom, whose long life continues to stump the experts.

Hereditary Cancer Is Not Supported In Research View

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Reporter

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—The fear that cancer runs in families is not borne out in a study reported today at the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society.

This analysis finds little evidence that you inherit much chance of getting cancer.

The study was made by Dr. Douglas P. Murphy and associates under auspices of the Gynecologic Research, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, aided by grants from the commonwealth fund.

THEY STUDIED NEARLY 10,000 female relatives of women who had cancer and others who did not. The cancer patients had either cancer of the breast or uterus, the two most common sites of female cancer.

They did not find that cancer, in any sites in general, occurred with any unusual frequency in relatives of women who had cancer of the breast or uterus.

The relatives of women who had breast cancer didn't have more breast cancer than relatives of women free of that kind of cancer.

They did find some statistical evidence, not strong, that cancer of the uterus might be more common among relatives of women with uterine cancer.

Summing up the study, Murphy said, "if heredity plays any role in influencing the frequency of cancer in blood relatives it would seem to be a very small one."

Another report told of progress in a simple, inexpensive test to detect whether young women may have or may be developing cancer of the cervix, the neck of the uterus or womb. The test analyzes fluids from the vagina to measure the content of an enzyme, beta-glucuronidase or BG. An enzyme is a chemical which accelerates body reactions.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

"Something for nothing" is the cancer of popular governments. When you start voting something for nothing, how do you stop? How do you keep the cancer from spreading everywhere? And by popular vote?

It used to be thought that a country had to have an hereditary king, or House of Lords, whom the people couldn't kick out of office, in order to keep the people in hand.

But that system had evils which the people could not tolerate. So with one exception of our own, off went their heads. The exception is life-time Federal judges. But still the question remains. How do you stop?

"Voting yourself rich" has become the biggest of Big Business. When the promoters of Social "Security" wrote the headlines that a man approaching 65 could get a tax-exempt equivalent of an annuity, which would cost, say, $14,000, for as little as a couple of hundred dollars, they put "something for nothing" in the shop windows.

Mr. Hutton The British began playing this game 24 years before we did. Subsidies beyond 65 was labelled a "right" to be guaranteed by social insurance. Now their National Insurance Fund is running in the red. Too much out, not enough in. The decline in the value of British money (inflation), makes the promised payments worth less and less, and the tax cost of maintaining the payments has become a fearful burden on those still in the working period of life, who also struggle with inflation.

"Something for nothing" is always paid for by somebody. Don't drive this "free" horse too far!

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—A year ago tomorrow Arthur Godfrey fired singer Julius La Rosa, the first man ever to lose his job on a television screen in full view of millions.

The incident quickly blew up the biggest tempest in video's brief history.

Stirred by the storm he had created, the red-haired king of TV performers so forthrightly explained why he had dismissed La Rosa, the young navy veteran whose career he had launched. His reason: "Julie" lacked what Godfrey called "for lack of a better word—humility."

THIS EXPLANATION merely fanned the controversy. Humility? What was humility? A nation wondered whether Arthur himself had set any course records in humility.

Broadway cassandras—and some network executives, too—feared both "The Great Godfrey" and his protégé would be hurt badly by their public airing of private differences. They figured Arthur would end up with a big dent in his famous charm, and that La Rosa would make a fast buck out of the notoriety, then disappear from show business.

It hasn't worked out that way at all. Both Arthur and Julie have survived the parting, and time has even soothed the ulcers of a few CBS vice presidents.

WHAT KIND of a year has it been for the two principals?

Well, Godfrey lost and regained his pilot's license. Financially, he didn't do as well as General Motors, but seems in danger of having to sell apples on street corners.

La Rosa, on the other hand, has earned $260,000, more than seven times the $35,000 a year he was making with Godfrey. The money came from recordings, TV guest appearances and a nationwide night club and theatre tour.

Julie averages about $7,500 a week for night club engagements, $5,000 for one night stands, and pulled down $43,000 for two weeks at the Chicago Theatre, where he had a percentage deal.

I REACHED La Rosa by phone during a stopover at the Chicago Airport the other day and asked him how he felt about Godfrey now.

"I realize that if it weren't for him, I wouldn't be where I am," he said, "but I can't quite feel toward him as I did before. But I am honestly grateful to him. 'No, I can't say I like him. But I don't dislike him either. I'm just grateful to him.'"

Does La Rosa now feel he has learned humility?

"Well, I've made quite a study of that word during the last year," said Julie, "and what it really means. I've read what Thomas Aquinas, St. Augustine, and Bishop Sheen, and other philosophers have said about it."

"YOU KNOW it doesn't mean what most people think it does. Humility doesn't consist in just being nice to people. That just makes you a nice guy but it doesn't make you truly humble. 'Very few people have real humility. If you had it, you wouldn't know it yourself. I have found I don't have true humility. It is something between you and the Man upstairs... between a human being and his God. I'll tell you honestly, I don't have it.'"

"But I think that I am a 10 per cent better person than I was a year ago. In 10 years maybe it'll show up. I have learned to control myself."

and to try to understand people instead of getting angry at them for what they say."

HIS FRIENDS say La Rosa—now 24—has matured greatly since his falling out with Godfrey. He doesn't throw his weight or his money around. He has built a house for his parents, is building another one for his sister. He is investing in annuities for himself.

"The only thing he splurges on is his suits," a friend said. "He gets a kid's delight in being well-dressed, and of course he has to dress well in his business."

He may pay up to $450 for a suit. Where does he buy them? From the same custom tailor Arthur Godfrey goes to.

Today that is the only link left between Godfrey and the kid he started.

Easy Cash Terms Propel Housing Boom in Nation

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—A new phase of the housing boom is under way. It is powered by easy money.

Mortgage investors say today they apparently have the blessing of Washington, judging both by the new Federal Housing Act and the treasury's policy toward the federal debt. They think nothing will halt the boom as long as people go on craving new or larger homes—on easy terms.

Applications for mortgage insurance are piling up in the offices of the Federal Housing Administration—in some areas 10-week backlogs appear. FHA has decided to let home builders start construction before the agency processes the applications.

THE RUSH to borrow to build may push the mortgage loan total for the year near 22 billion dollars, the Home Loan Bank board believes. Last year 19% billion dollars worth were written.

Home building in September was at a record level, the Commerce and Labor Department reports. F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing specialists, say residential building contracts in the states east of the Rockies were 53 per cent higher in September than for the same month a year ago.

Hereditary Cancer Is Not Supported In Research View

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—The fear that cancer runs in families is not borne out in a study reported today at the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society.

This analysis finds little evidence that you inherit much chance of getting cancer.

The study was made by Dr. Douglas P. Murphy and associates under auspices of the Gynecologic Research, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, aided by grants from the commonwealth fund.

THEY STUDIED NEARLY 10,000 female relatives of women who had cancer and others who did not. The cancer patients had either cancer of the breast or uterus, the two most common sites of female cancer.

They did not find that cancer, in any sites in general, occurred with any unusual frequency in relatives of women who had cancer of the breast or uterus.

The relatives of women who had breast cancer didn't have more breast cancer than relatives of women free of that kind of cancer.

They did find some statistical evidence, not strong, that cancer of the uterus might be more common among relatives of women with uterine cancer.

Summing up the study, Murphy said, "If heredity plays any role in influencing the frequency of cancer in blood relatives it would seem to be a very small one."

Another report told of progress in a simple, inexpensive test to detect whether young women may have or may be developing cancer of the cervix.

The test analyzes fluids from the vagina to measure the content of an enzyme, beta-glucuronidase or BG. An enzyme is a chemical which accelerates body reactions.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

"Something for nothing" is the cancer of popular governments. When you start voting something for nothing, how do you stop? How do you keep the cancer from spreading everywhere? And by popular vote?

It used to be thought that a country had to have an hereditary king, or House of Lords, whom the people couldn't kick out of office, in order to keep the people in hand.

But that system had evils which the people could not tolerate. So with one exception of our own, off went their heads. The exception is life-time Federal judges. But still the question remains, How do you stop?

"Voting yourself rich" has become the biggest of Big Business. When the promoters of Social "Security" wrote the headlines that a man approaching 65 could get a tax-exempt equivalent of an annuity, which would cost, say, $14,000, for as little as a couple of hundred dollars, they put "something for nothing" in the shop windows.

The British began playing this game 24 years before we did. Subsistence beyond 65 was labelled a "right" to be guaranteed by social insurance. Now their National Insurance Fund is running in the red. Too much out, not enough in. The decline in the value of British money (inflation), makes the promised payments worth less and less, and the tax cost of maintaining the payments has become a fearful burden on those still in the working period of life, who also struggle with inflation.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE WEAPON

After what we have heard of A-bombs and H-bombs it is hard for the mind to conceive of any weapon of war that could possibly be more frightening. But judging from latest descriptions, a terribly potent new "nerve gas" shapes up as exactly that.

The fact that a "nerve gas" existed was revealed to the public some months ago. It was said to be far more deadly than any war gas ever produced. And now, for the first time officially, its effects are described in detail in a new Army-Air Force field manual.

To put it as mildly as possible, they are horrible, sickening reading.

Nerve gas does what the name suggests: It acts on the central nervous system, leaving its victims with no control over body organs and muscles. It can paralyze, torment and kill—all in a very few minutes.

Perhaps most frightening of all is the fact that the gas is colorless and usually has no odor. You might not know it had hit you until you were already helpless.

There seems to be some cause for hope that the weapon may never be used. The usage of lethal gas has been more or less banned in all recent wars under international law. And with rarely any exceptions, the ban has been strictly observed.

Because this was true in the past, however, is no guarantee at all that it still would be true tomorrow. A nation launching a sneak attack, or trying to ward off defeat, scarcely could be depended upon to feel itself bound by ethics.

If such a weapon had to be made, it is surely consoling to know that the U. S. has made it first (or at least we hope that we have). For we thus have a good head start in working out utmost defensive measures.

But it clearly is one "discovery" that the world could have done without. And the men who did the discovering, though they knew that it had to be done, can hardly be proud of their work.

INDISCREET UTTERANCE

People in public life must weigh their every public utterance to make certain that what they say is not open to misinterpretation. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is learning this the hard way.

There is still disagreement as to whether he ever said that what is good for General Motors, a company he once headed, is good for the country. He has made it plain that what he meant was the opposite. Whether he said it or did not say it, he said something enough like it to allow a considerable number of people to believe that he did.

More recently he told a press conference that while he sympathizes with the jobless in surplus labor areas he prefers "bird dogs to kennel-fed dogs." He added that bird dogs like to get out and look for their own food while kennel dogs simply sit on their haunches and yelp.

While he may have been urging initiative on the part of individuals, a virtue much admired by Americans, his remark was open to another interpretation. In some quarters it was heard as a gratuitous insult to the unemployed who are already greatly disturbed about their problem.

Secretary Wilson says he is sorry for making "inept remarks" about dogs while talking about jobless workers. But, he said, his remarks were "distorted by our left wing opponents." The Democrats, however, will use it as "ammunition" in an election campaign in which the balance of power is already delicate.

DEEPER THAN WE KNEW

How deeply has government gone into commercial business operations? Here's what Assistant Secretary of Commerce James C. Worthy has said about it: "The actual extent of such operations is unknown, for many of them are buried in the labyrinthine structures of government departments. Enough has been uncovered already, however, to demonstrate that they are far more extensive and far more deeply entrenched than anyone till now has

Whenever we go through a political campaign, one side or the other attempts to gag free discussion by raising the issue of unity. The argument runs that if we talk badly about each other, the British, the French and the Indians, to mention only three peoples, will assume that we are disunited. The assumption is that the British, the French and the Indians have never heard of an American election which is slightly more polite than a British election.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman were in the White House, their adherents liked the word, unity, and it was the Republicans who enjoyed attacking the Democratic Administrations, which is what an opposition exists for. Now that Dwight D. Eisenhower is in the White House, the Republicans want every argument hush-hushed for the sake of unity.

Nothing can be more dangerous to a free society than a unity synthetically developed by social pressure. Those who complain about conformity ought to look into this attempt to make the whole American people accept the suppression of free debate during an election campaign so that the British, French and Indians, to say nothing about the Russians and the Red Chinese, will believe that we are not disunited. If the argument for unity was wrong in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, why is it right in the Eisenhower Administration?

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, formerly of the State Department and now returned to Columbia University, once stated the argument this way:

"Now that they are also attacking the Eisenhower Administration, the sinister nature of the conspiracy of the McCarthy-McCarran axis is clear to all. That crowd will always be opposed to the duly elected leadership of the American people."

First of all, the American people never elected anybody to leadership. In accordance with the Constitution, they choose a President and Vice President, Senators and Representatives. Ours is a representative republic operating with limited powers under a written constitution. To each elected official is designated powers, authorities, duties, obligations and limitations by that constitution.

In fact the Constitution does not set up any system of political parties, in no manner recognizing that they exist. Each person elected is chosen as an individual. Constitutionally he is in no manner bound to adhere to any program announced by a political party and some of the great figures in our history never did abide by decisions made by others. For instance, the elder Robert La Follette was elected as a Republican but he acted according to his conscience. In the current generation, Senator Wayne Morse was elected as a Republican, became independent, and now says that he will vote with the Democrats in the organization of the Senate. He has not been censured or expelled from the Senate nor have the Republicans of Oregon driven him out of their party.

It probably is practical for a Senator or a Representative to stick to the decisions of his party caucus, and when a number of men join together, someone will lead and others will follow. Under the American system, the one who leads need not be President of the United States. Certainly William Borah was a leader when he was a United States Senator, but Warren G. Harding was not the leader when he was President of the United States. In the recent Congress, Senator William Knowland announced that if Red China were seated in the United Nations, he would resign his formal leadership of the Republicans in the Senate and fight to withdraw the United States from the United Nations.

Was Knowland disciplined for such a rebellious statement? He was not nor could he be. He had been elected by the people of the sovereign state of California to represent them, not to follow a leadership. His responsibility is to the people of California, not to a party caucus or to any individual who may sit in the White House.

What becomes of this concept of obedience to leadership, if the citizens, who choose to vote in the current election, give the Democrats a majority of the Senate and the House of Representatives or in one of them? Surely the Democrats will not follow a Republican President. Herbert Hoover experienced that when he was President and he knows how difficult such a situation can be.

AIR TRAVEL AND HEART DISEASE

In an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the matter of air travel and heart disease is discussed. Physicians are frequently asked by their patients with heart disease whether it would do them any harm to travel by air. Uppermost in the patient's mind are two questions: (1) Will flight be harmful and (2) would it be preferable for him to seek other means of transportation.

The answer is readily answered in most instances: In the absence of serious illness, the stresses that might be encountered during flight are easily borne. It is a matter of record that early in commercial aviation it was feared that many patients with heart disease might suffer en route. This fear largely disappeared as the result of a report published in 1941 that showed out of a total of 7 million passengers carried by five major airlines, only three ascribed to heart failure occurred while in flight while two deaths, considered to be heart failure, occurred shortly after the passenger got off the plane. The conclusion, "if you can walk, you may fly" was a sound one brought out by subsequent experience.

In 1947, a survey carried out at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, found that attacks of unconsciousness during flight occurred in six of every 100,000 passengers; there was just one death aloft for every one and a half million passengers carried, with the leading cause of death, heart and blood vessel (cardiovascular) disease. Although differences in altitude did not seem to matter, it was significant that more deaths occurred in the non-pressurized type of cabin than in the pressurized type.

On the pressurized cabin type of plane, the occasional need for the administration of oxygen to persons with heart disease has almost reached the vanishing point. The editorial concludes that, "As a matter of precaution, a person with heart disease should be advised not to engage passage on any type of airliner that does not have a supply of oxygen aboard for use by any passenger who may need it in an emergency, regardless of the 'cabin altitude' to be flown."

Of course, each individual is different and if there is any doubt a doctor should be consulted. Some authorities believe that persons in whom angina attacks are brought on easily or those who are quite nervous about flying, should be advised not to fly.

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The Republicans are making a major pitch to "first voters," those young people who will be eligible to go to the polls for the first time in the upcoming congressional elections.

GOP experts believe that the estimated 5,000,000 men and women in this category could swing many borderline districts. Tons of campaign literature and bales of instructions on how to corral first voters are daily going out of the offices of the Young Republican National Federation, a part of the national GOP.

It's being gobbled up and used efficiently by state and local young GOP groups around the country, committee spokesmen claim. A major goal is to get the young people to register, which they are doing in great numbers, it is reported.

THE BIGGEST PART of this effort is directed at organizing Republican clubs in colleges. John Beggs, a young Californian with a pleasant manner, a crew-cut and a taste for bright yellow button-down shirts and dark flannel suits, is touring the campuses around the country sparking the drive.

So far, he reports, 435 active college GOP clubs have been formed and queries are coming in from scores more daily on how clubs can be started.

The central campaign idea he's trying to sell to the undergrads is the same one offered to the general voter. That is, to support the Republican congressional candidate so that Ike will have a majority in Congress and keep getting his programs made into law.

In his travels so far Beggs has found that these college kids are frankly critical of both parties. But he says he believes that their sentiments are basically with the Eisenhower program.

STUDENTS FROM THE FARM BELT, he says, are naturally interested in the new Ike farm program of flexible supports. "They believe that the country could not have gone along forever under the old system," he reports, "and they are willing to give this new idea a fair chance."

They're all interested in the country's foreign policy, he says, and amazingly well-informed about current developments. He claims that they are not concerned with the unemployment problem, voice no fears of a depression and do not appear interested in tax matters.

Universal military training is a program many of them are for because the draft threat exists for most of them, he has found. Surprisingly, he has found, the college kids are about equally divided on Ike's program to reduce the voting age to 18.

In 1952 Eisenhower campaign leaders disagreed about shooting at the first-voter group. It was argued that the college students traditionally tended to be liberal, even a little left-wing, and would vote Democratic if they voted at all.

IT WAS ALSO SAID that most young voters had the Democratic-thinking habit because they had known no other administration in power in Washington since they had been politically conscious.

But because Ike was personally interested in trying to reach this group an effort was made to sell them on the Republican party.

The results in 1952 were startling. It is now claimed at GOP headquarters that an overwhelming number of first voters went for Ike and the Republicans in 1952. Somewhere along the line college student bodies had become conservative with a Republican inclination, they say. It's this attitude, plus the continued personal popularity of Ike in this age group, which the young Republican group at the national committee are exploiting with all their might.

The young Democrats, on the other hand, are making only a fraction of the effort for first voters which they made in 1952. They had a man doing Beggs' job then, but the effort is by mail now. They would like to do more, they say, but they don't have the funds.

Like to Paint

Arlington, Va. (AP)—The height of the murals and the prints of bare feet were the clues to the persons who did several thousand dollars worth of damage to the almost complete addition to a new building. An 8-year-old girl and a 6-year-old boy admitted they painted the murals because they "liked to paint."

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington, Oct. 17—Among other pleasantries which altogether escaped the notice of the "forces" which object to Senator McCarthy's "methods," a Democratic congressman from Ohio in a letter to the editor of the Washington Post said that he had been "personally" interested in trying to reach this group an effort was made to sell them on the Republican party.

The results in 1952 were startling. It is now claimed at GOP headquarters that an overwhelming number of first voters summed its work. Hays accused Sargent of pausing "for emphasis" before he mentioned the name "McCarraan." He said "ordinarily people in the orders do not use the last name and I wonder if it is on the fly leaf."

"It is," Sargent said. "You had better question authority for statements I was making. I want to make it clear that I was relying on a high-type or research book."

"Maybe we ought to subpoena the officials of Catholic University and find out how high-type it is," Hays said. "I happen to know something about the background of the book, how long it took her to get a degree and so forth. And even that there was a little pressure or she would not have it yet."

Reece tried to persuade Hays to behave, but he persisted. "I do not know her," he said. "But I have done a little checking. You have your lunch-hour to try to find out what kind of documents these are. The book, itself, doesn't mean anything. It is but one person's opinion."

Sargent said: "It is considered to be the best document of its kind in existence. I think any well-grounded scholar will tell you the same thing. The book is eminently reliable."

I telephoned Hays at his home in Ohio where he is campaigning for re-election. He admitted he had made the remarks here quoted, but said he had asked to have some of his conduct expunged from the record. His attack on the validity of Sister Mary Margaret's degree was made "in the heat of debate" he said, but he insisted nevertheless that he did have authority for saying that there had been "some argument" at Catholic U. as to whether the degree should be awarded. His informants

Mr. Sargent said of this work: "Here is a chronology of the subversive movement, as first of all, general background."

Sargent then gave the author's name as Sister Mary Margaret Patricia McCarran and mentioned the fact that her father was the senator.

Hays interrupted to ask: "You says she is a Sister?"

Sargent said she was a member of a Catholic order of nuns. "I didn't know they used her last name," Hays said. "That is her full name," said Sargent. "Her full name appears on the book and that is who she is."

A noon recess soon intervened and when the committee re-

Today in Washington

Many of Case Defenders Chided Over Stand Taken in McCarthy Smear Charge

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 18—"O that mine enemy would only attack me!" This has been the plaintive soliloquy of many a candidate in a campaign characterized by apathy and indifference on the part of the voters.

That's what Vice-President Nixon must have meant when he said that the nasty attack on Clifford Case, Republican nominee for United States Senate from New Jersey, would be beneficial rather than detrimental. For in a campaign where the voters for the most part are passive it often takes something sensational to arouse them. Mr. Case now will attract far more attention on the radio and television and get a wider hearing for his views on the stump than he otherwise would have had. It's a plus for him because the attack itself has boomeranged.

The publication of a newspaper story that Mr. Case has a sister who was allegedly a Communist is, to be sure, as he says, "gutter politics." It is stated now that mistaken identity is involved and that the candidate's sister is not the person referred to by the ex-Communist quoted. But even if it were true, it was an improper and irrelevant charge. For, no matter what the members of a candidate's family is asked to say, the electorate is asked to pass judgment only on the qualifications of the candidate and not his kinfolks.

The tendency of some people to attack the man rather than to discuss the issues is all too prevalent in America. Indignation is properly being visited on those who attempted to smear Mr. Case, but, unfortunately as one looks back at the record, many of the same people who are supporting Mr. Case's candidacy were not so charitably inclined when another man in public life was charged with "guilt by innuendo."

Thus a Senate subcommittee in 1952 which was at first reluctant to allow itself to become the vehicle of a smear against Sen. McCarthy, of Wisconsin, was prodded again and again by certain "left wing" organizations until the subcommittee did file a report, making no recommendations of its own, but reciting a lot of innuendoes without a single specific charge of law violation.

There were no cries of "gutter politics" then from the "left wingers," but instead they launched severe criticisms against Sen. McCarthy when, upon being refused the right of cross-examination, he declined to state that he had gone "fighting" Communism. That's why those who are so quick to denounce — and rightly so — the malingerers of Clifford Case might well consider whether they have neglected to be equally fair to the man who has been charged.

the years involved in the controversy. The Department of Justice, since the 1952 committee reported, has stated publicly it found no evidence of law violation on any other matter either.

Surely it is the business of the Internal Revenue Bureau to determine what funds are personal income and hence subject to tax and what funds are received by a Senator for public purposes. Nor is any public law required to disclose his personal finances to any one else. On December 1, 1952, this correspondent wrote: "Adlai Stevenson admitted publicly last September that, apart from his fund when running for governor, used for state officials, he had two special funds, namely in the years 1950 and 1951—years when he was not a candidate himself. He never has disclosed the names of the contributors or the amounts contributed to these two funds, which he calls 'political funds,' or how they were expended for the years 1950 and 1951. Nor is there any legal reason why he should have done so. None of these special funds—Stevenson's or Nixon's—can be considered improper or unethical as long as a system of individual contributions is the accepted practice in American politics."

"To accuse without specific proof any one in public office of being improperly influenced to render special favors as a consequence of contributions of money or anything of value, whether made during or after a campaign, is to libel both the contributor and the recipient, and the courts have been known to award damages when false charges are made."

Sen. McCarthy, like Gov. Stevenson, says he doesn't want to list publicly the people who contributed money to his cause — the fight against communism — presumably because the contributors would be subjected to unfair attacks and reprisals. But the Internal Revenue Bureau necessarily knows who they are and what the Senator did with the money. It must know in order to determine whether any of it was personal income to the Senator or gifts for public activities.

Yet this correspondent receives letters every now and then from persons who take it for granted that Sen. McCarthy has done something fraudulent about his income taxes or contributions or violated some Federal law.

It takes a lot of personal funds to pay lawyers to carry on suits for libel or slander, and Sen. McCarthy told a television audience that he had gone "fighting" Communism. That's why those who are so quick to denounce — and rightly so — the malingerers of Clifford Case might well consider whether they have neglected to be equally fair to the man who has been charged.

were "high in the Catholic hierarchy" but they had refused to let him identify them.

"I made it perfectly clear," he said, "that my knowledge was based on hearsay."

He said The Tablet, of London, a Catholic publication, had found a number of errors, including incorrect spelling of some names. The record shows persistent abusive conduct by Hays toward Reece, other members of the committee and witnesses. Hays' conduct was so flagrant that Reece finally felt duty bound to state the situation.

"I have never observed a better organized smear campaign against a congressional committee nor such wanton distortion of the facts by the public press," he said. "There are some 10,000 foundations with assets of $10 billions and an annual income in excess of $300 million. Less than a dozen are well-known. They have tremendous resources which largely are taken out of our taxable income. The evidence discloses what might be an important clue to the location of the nerve center of subversion—the left-wing intellectuals whose prestige and influence seemed to be the product of tax-exempt foundation grants."

The New York Herald Tribune and the Times have fought savagely and not always truthfully against McCarthy's "methods." They have exulted over the political plot to "get" him by a vote of "censure."

They also exulted over the temporary frustration of the investigation of foundations. The fight against the investigation was led by political pressure groups in New York which have ramifications all over the country and overseas. Some of them raise tax-exempt money by practical blackmail.

How these two papers were not at all moved by Hays' affront to the Catholic-run, Catholic University, her work of scholarship or Mr. Sargent.

Adams Says Crime Situation Same

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams says the crime situation in the city has not improved since August when he reported New York was "on the verge of becoming a community of violence and crime."

"In many areas of the city it is worse," he said yesterday. New York is still "verging on becoming a city of crime and violence," Adams said, despite what he called "terrific efforts" by the police department and active interest of Mayor Robert F. Wagner and his administration.

Adams made the statements in addressing a Laymen's Sunday observance at Salem Methodist Church.

HE SAID the police force is "still about 7,000 men short of adequate strength" despite the addition of about 300 policemen and the shifting of others from non-patrol to street duty in the department that is now 20,000-odd strong.

Noting that major crimes in the city in the first half of 1954 were 11 per cent above those of the same period of 1953, Adams said:

"Our juvenile delinquency cases were running more than 14 per cent ahead of the first six months of 1953, and present indications are that this rate is steadily increasing."

He said many factors are involved in the situation, and added:

"WE USED TO HEAR talk of what we learned at our mother's knee. Now we hear of what we learn from the psychiatrist and the social worker. And this alone seems to me to reflect the underlying change in our social life."

Adams also said:

"I believe the family unit and family life provide the basis for our entire social structure, and that if we are going to accomplish anything in solving the problem of juvenile delinquency we must find some means to restore and renew the integrity of the family in our social and religious life."

BAD NEWS FOR '54—This is the new gloom sheet that many U. S. citizens will fill out to pay their 1954 income tax. It is a brand-new card to replace the earlier 1040A short form. Both sides must be filled out as shown above. Otherwise it makes payment for those who earned less than $5000 a year more painful than ever. There's no figuring. The government will either return a bill or a refund.

Simple Tax Form May Help Public

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Wage earners getting less than $5,000 a year may use a simple 15-line tax form for 1954—a possible step towards doing away with their filing of returns altogether.

Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, in announcing the new card form Saturday, estimated that 35 million of the 60 million-plus U. S. taxpayers will be eligible to use it. But he said many will choose the longer Form 1040 instead.

The 15-line form is a streamlined version of the old 1040A, and Andrews said it could be a preliminary alternative for the under-$5,000 group. In that event, the revenue service would bill the taxpayer on the basis of information supplied by his employer.

Andrews said the four other main types of individual returns have been redesigned to make them more attractive and easier to understand.

The forms will be mailed out starting Dec. 26. The new deadline for 1954 returns is next April 15, a month later than in previous years.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, Oct. 18.—The Rev. Cornelius Hayes, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Parish for the past five years, was guest of honor at a farewell dinner at the parish hall in Phenicia Thursday night. More than 100 local residents of every faith attended. Father Hayes has been transferred to the LaSalle Seminary at Altamont, where he will serve as retreat master. He left Phenicia Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brinks recently visited a brother of Mr. Brinks in Philadelphia. They then journeyed to Long Island where they visited his mother.

Mrs. Francis Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Smith, Jr., recently visited friends in New Jersey.

Linda, Alan and Lisa Carle, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carle, visited their grand-uncle, Mr. Frommelt, at his farm in East Chatham recently.

Norman Marray is spending a two week vacation at the family home in Ideal Park.

Mrs. Etta Powell is a patient at Kingston Hospital.

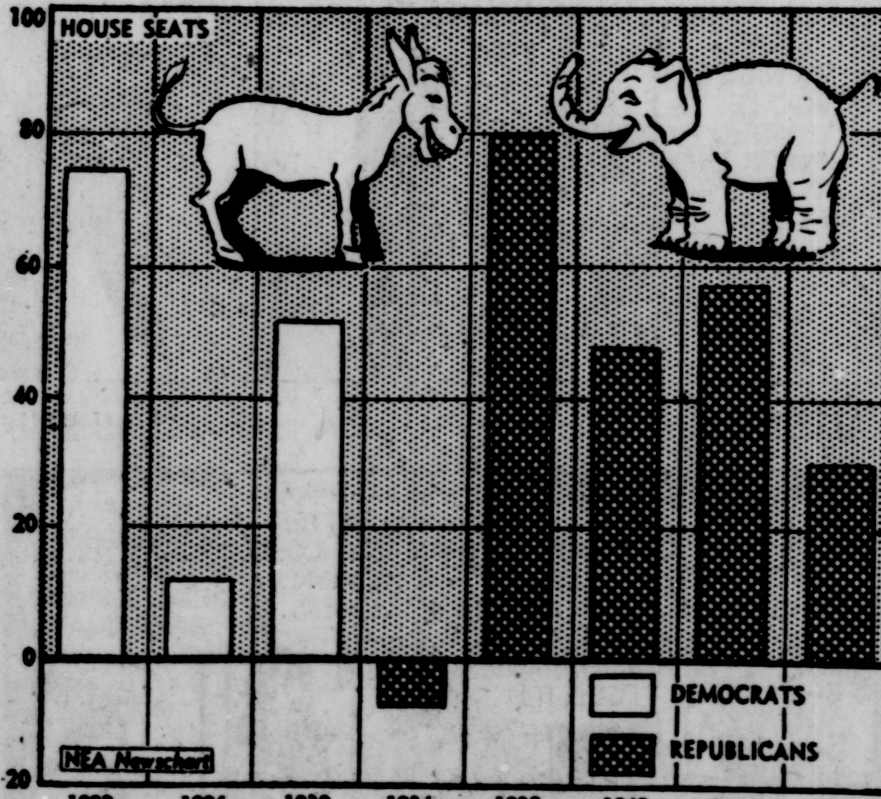

The Ulster Park Grange dartball teams played the Mt. Tremper Grange teams at the Grange Hall Thursday night. The local ladies team won all three games and the local men's team took two out of three.

Rudy Frank, who is slowly recovering from his illness, soon will have the unique experience of attending his classes at the Ontario Central School from his home in Shandaken. A direct two-way telephone system will be installed between Rudy's home and the school, enabling him to listen to all his classes, and making possible his participation in classroom study and discussion while it is actually taking place. Once installed, the system can be used by other homes in the district.

The Misses Eleanor and Ruth Frommelt of Hollis recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carle. They are Mrs. Carle's sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mellevold called on Mr. and Mrs. Howard Umhey Wednesday night. They left here Thursday to return to their winter home at Port Washington.

It has been announced that the recent Welfare and Loan Dance sponsored by the Ontario P-TA netted a profit of more than $100. Approximately 350 persons attended.

"OUTS" MAKE OUT—The political party out of power has gained House seats in every off-year election since 1922 except 1934. The Republicans made the largest gain in 1938 when they picked up 80 seats. Above Newschart shows number of seats picked up by the "Outs" in the last eight off-year elections.

Probably the most interesting feature of today's hand is the bidding. South's overcall of one no-trump shows just about the same strength as an opening bid of one no-trump. Moreover, the bid guarantees at least one (usually two) sure stopper in the enemy's suit.

North knew that his partner had 16 to 18 points, balanced distribution, and at least three suits stopped. His own eight points in high cards might not be enough to make the combined total 26 points, but North was nevertheless right in jumping to game. His five-card suit might be useful, and his jack of spades was another important asset.

If North had raised to only two no-trump, South probably would have gone on to game anyway, but there was no reason for North to risk a pass. It doesn't pay to ask your partner to bid what you can bid all by yourself.

North naturally never considered a bid of two diamonds. Such a bid would indicate a long diamond suit in a hand that was far too weak to consider a game. In this case North had every reason to expect that South would have a fine play for game at no-trump.

West opened the eight of spades, dummy put up the jack, and East won with the ace. East returned the jack of hearts, knowing that the spade suit was pretty hopeless.

South won with the king of hearts, led a low diamond to the ace, and returned a diamond towards his queen, hoping to set up the rest of the suit. East won with the king of diamonds, however, and West's failure to follow suit showed the diamonds were not going to break.

East now returned another heart, and South had to decide whether or not to hold up. If he took the ace of hearts he would have no further stopper in the suit and might be swamped by heart tricks later on. After some thought South decided to go up with the ace of hearts and hope that East had started with only two hearts.

Declared next cashed the ace of clubs and let the eight of clubs ride to East's queen. East returned a diamond to South's queen, and declarer successfully finessed dummy's ten of clubs, cashed the king of clubs, and then finessed the ten of spades. Since East had discarded two spades on the clubs (in order to keep the jack of diamonds), South won three spade tricks and thus made his contract with an overtrick.

Building Is Predicted

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole predicted today more than 1,200,000 houses will be built in the nation next year and said the figure could climb to two million annually in the mid-'60s.

Tips Are Given To Repair Trees Hit by Hurricane

Hurricane Hazel left a terrific task of tree repair, especially for home owners. The loss of trees blown down was staggering. Hundreds of thousands of other trees were seriously weakened because of broken limbs, torn branches, snapped off twigs and wrenched root systems.

For these a big sanitation and cleanup job lies ahead. Smaller trees that listed after the hurricane should be arched at once while the soil still is moist and held erect by guy wires until their roots have been re-established.

During the weeks and months ahead, according to Dr. Philip L. Rudden of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, dangling limbs should be removed, stubs of torn branches cut back flush to a parent limb or trunk and wounds painted, weak limbs cabled and V-crotches braced.

THIS PRUNING is important so that the wounds will heal and seal before damaging heart rot fungi can get a foothold. It will also prevent bark beetles and borers from breeding in weakened and dying wood. The hurricane carried for miles insects which transmit Dutch elm disease as well as other infections. Unless curbed, tree diseases may break out like a rash in new areas next year.

Equally important as pruning is feeding tattered trees to help them regain lost vigor more quickly. Feeding this fall yet will strengthen root systems and send trees into spring with better health.

The hurricane also pointed up the need for avoiding planting such brittle trees as the silver maple, red maple if it is multiple leaders, poplar and Chinese elm. It also showed that trees along streets and highways or those weakened by building construction were blown down with greater frequency than those standing in the open with good root systems. Many street trees grow in exhausted soils or have their roots abbreviated by laying of water and sewer mains and home building.

New Army Command Has Been Established

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—A new army command is being set up to handle "the ground defenses of the United States."

The army, announcing the move Saturday night, said the command would be headed by Gen. John E. Dahlquist, chief of army field forces. Command headquarters will be at Ft. Monrovia, Va., where the field forces are also headquartered.

While the army announcement made no reference to the matter the ground command appears to be related to the Defense Department action last summer in creating a joint air-army-navy command for the country's defense against air attack or invasion.

Adams Says Crime Situation Same

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams says the crime situation in the city has not improved since August when he reported New York was "on the verge of becoming a community of violence and crime."

"In many areas of the city it is worse," he said yesterday. New York is still "verging on becoming a city of crime and violence," Adams said, despite what he called "terrific efforts" by the police department and active interest of Mayor Robert F. Wagner and his administration.

Adams made the statements in addressing a Laymen's Sunday observance at Salem Methodist Church.

HE SAID the police force is "still about 7,000 men short of adequate strength" despite the addition of about 300 policemen and the shifting of officers from non-patrol to street duty in the department that is now 20,000-odd strong.

Noting that major crimes in the city in the first half of 1954 were 11 per cent above those of the same period of 1953, Adams said:

"Our juvenile delinquency cases were running more than 14 per cent ahead of the first six months of 1953, and present indications are that this rate is steadily increasing."

He said many factors are involved in the situation, and added:

"WE USED TO HEAR talk of what we learned at our mother's knee. Now we hear of what we learn from the psychiatrist and the social worker. And this alone seems to me to reflect the underlying change in our social life."

Adams also said:

"I believe the family unit and family life provide the basis for our entire social structure, and that if we are going to accomplish anything in solving the problem of juvenile delinquency we must find some means to restore and renew the integrity of the family in our social and religious life."

BAD NEWS FOR '54—This is the new gloom sheet that many U. S. citizens will fill out to pay their 1954 income tax. It is a brand-new card to replace the earlier 1040A short form. Both sides must be filled out as shown above. Otherwise it makes payment for those who earned less than $5000 a year more painful than ever. There's no figuring. The government will either return a bill or a refund.

Simple Tax Form May Help Public

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—

Wage earners getting less than $5,000 a year may use a simple 15-line tax form for 1954—a possible step towards doing away with their filing of returns altogether.

Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, in announcing the new card form Saturday, estimated that 35 million of the 60 million-plus U. S. taxpayers will be eligible to use it. But he said many will choose the longer Form 1040 instead.

The 15-line form is a streamlined version of the old 1040A, and Andrews said it could be a preliminary alternative for the under $5,000 group. In that event, the revenue service would bill the taxpayer on the basis of information supplied by his employer.

Andrews said the four other main types of individual returns have been redesigned to make them more attractive and easier to understand.

The forms will be mailed out starting Dec. 26. The new deadline for 1954 returns is next April 15, a month later than in previous years.

Hall Tells How Policies Differ

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 18 (AP)—

Leonard W. Hall, the Republican national chairman, said yesterday the "vast difference" in the old and new foreign policies could be summed up in these words:

"The Truman-Acheson foreign policy got us into war; the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy got us out of a war."

Hall, commenting on a speech by Harry Truman in Kansas City Saturday night, said the former President's "memory is certainly short."

Truman said "ever-shifting" diplomacy jeopardizing "our own security and peace of the world" had replaced a "surefooted bipartisan foreign policy" under the Democrats.

"LET US HELP restore this great government to the same eminence it occupied in world affairs prior to this Republican administration," the former President declared.

Hall told a Missouri Republican rally:

"While Mr. Truman was in charge of our foreign policy, 600 million free people were put behind the iron curtain."

He said when U. S. troops were ordered out of Korea before the Korean war started, it was "like giving a gift edge invitation to Stalin."

He said that in contrast when Red China threatened recently to invade Formosa President Eisenhower announced if they intend to take Formosa they'll have to climb over the American 7th Fleet.

Mitchell Favors Union Mergers

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell went on record in favor of an AFL-CIO merger last night, saying it would benefit both organized and unorganized working men and the country as a whole.

Interviewed on an NBC-TV program, Mitchell said he hopes for "one labor movement" in the nation because:

"It would lead to more responsibility on the part of labor, more participation on the part of labor in our economic and social and political affairs and, in addition, would I hope eliminate many of the jurisdictional problems that now occur in the labor movement."

He predicted independent unions might eventually join up if the AFL and CIO, which represents 95 per cent of organized U. S. labor, go through with their merger plans. AFL and CIO leaders completed merger negotiations last week and arranged to draft a proposed constitution.

All Is Relative

By FRANK TRIPP

Everything is relative. Not the relative that borrows money or comes to sponge the summer, but the kind that lends to comparisons, odious though they may be; such as speed, wealth, wages and security.

It is difficult for the present generation to believe that as late as 30 years ago 50 miles an hour was terrific, $100 a month was "bankers' wages," a competence of $10,000 made one "wealthy" and $20,000 was enough to retire early, with the future secure.

Many a man retired on less than 20 grand and lived the life of Riley for years. Then things began to happen to him, serious things that wrecked his security and made lots like him dependents.

COSTS AND WAGES started going up. Laborers who had raised families and bought homes on one dollar a day came to see their children earning more in one hour than they ever earned for a ten-hour shift.

Modest homes that rented for $10 and $12 a month, and could be bought for around $1,500, zoomed out of the reach of wage-earners.

More pretentious places with seven and eight rooms, furnace, bath, yard and garden could be built for around $3,500, land and all, or rented for $20 a month. They sky-rocketed.

Plenty of those very same houses, face-lifted, are renting today for $75 to $100 a month; selling for $18,000 to $25,000 and couldn't be duplicated for $30,000.

COFFEE WAS SELLING for 18 cents a pound, sugar 5, cheese 16, butter 15, bread 5, milk 5, porterhouse 20; soup bones, liver and pigs' hocks free. Eggs got as low as 10 cents a dozen, potatoes 50 cents a bushel; hard coal was $6 a ton, a good suit cost $15, shoes $3.

Rounders bought 100 proof for $1 a quart; at the bar the best pour-your-own three to four ounce shots 15 cents, two for a quarter. Beer was $1 a case delivered, or a 14-ounce shoofer of draught for a nickel, plus a free lunch. Take home seven course dinners with wine were plentiful for a buck.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

THAT WAS the kind of world into which even young men retired on $600 to $1,000 a year of tax-free income. We speak of 50-cent dollars but a 1900 dollar easily did the work of four today. A dollar would supply a home cooked chicken dinner for a family of six. There was a good meal at Child's for a quarter.

When wages and prices began the struggle to maintain their relative, the earners only handled more money, each time got less necessities for it; until necessities ceased to be the standard. It's luxuries now. This is no quarrel with the new standards; it is just observing, in common language, how come. There were no automobiles, electric appliances, radio, TV or 40-hour weeks, overtime and paid vacations then. As new inventions appeared the workers who made them also had to buy them to sustain their own jobs. They had to have more money, and so did the butcher, the baker and the landlord, so they could have theirs too. As wages went up, so went prices.

WHY NO HALTING level of necessity prices has importantly occurred is because of the standard of luxury living—everybody bent upon keeping up with the Joneses. Necessities have become rather incidental to living.

In the battle to beat the rap, to have more luxury, more leisure, and give less production for it, the earner thinks he has had it tough. His plight is a bed of roses compared to a retired carpenter, for instance. He saved his money from $3-a-day wages, now must pay $20 a day to get his roof fixed. So with thousands who thought themselves secure.

WHERE WILL the see-saw to maintain relativity end? Who can say on what one can safely retire today? The pity is that so few care, or try; as did able-bodied men when they were self-reliant and were known as paupers if they drew on public funds.

Dependence on government has become a shabby American pastime, the product of political shenanigan to win the mass ballot; a humbug, masquerading as heartfelt interest in the common man.

The deluded earner pays the whole shot—in the visible and hidden taxes which flch a mighty slice of his already shrunken dollar. He, not the government, pays it all.

This sort of relativity is easier to describe than Dr. Einstein's, but seems equally hard for its victims to understand.

Driving Classes Grow
Detroit (AP)—The nation's car dealers provided 7,300 new cars for driver education use in the high schools during the 1953-54 school term. This is 900 more than during the previous year. TAXES AND PROSPERITY

Everybody should be concerned about governmental expenditures on all levels—local, state and national. The money the politicians spend comes from the pockets of the people and from corporations' coffers.

Taxes, in other words, exert great influences on prosperity. If they are high, they throttle good times; if they are low, they are a boon to national well-being.

I have just completed an exhaustive study of the financial affairs of a dozen ranking American corporations. And in this article I shall discuss some of the significant economic data of one of these enterprises—General Motors.

The period under discussion covers five years—1949 to 1953 inclusive. It touches upon payrolls, taxes, dividends and employment. All the studies I have made are comparable, percentage-wise, to this from the standpoint of what the tax collector received over against what the workers and the owners of the business got.

GENERAL MOTORS' payrolls for 1952-1953 totaled about $9,763,000,000. Tax collectors grabbed $4,424,000,000. The common stockholders (assuming all the risks and furnishing the equity money) received $1,924,000,000. Average yearly employees were 469,000.

Thus, for every dollar that the employees were paid, the local state, national and international taxgatherers received 45 cents—nearly half. And for every dollar of tax money exacted, the owners of the business got 43 cents. It is a sad commentary on the state of health of the national economy. The politicians got a little less than half as much as the workers and over twice as much as the owners.

With a yearly average of 469,000 people on the payroll for the 1949-1953 period and with taxes of $4,424,000,000 the average weekly tax bill per employee was nearly $40!

Government, indeed, has become big business. Taxes, normally thought of as a deflationary force, pile costs on costs and thus keep prices high.

What would a billion dollars in tax savings do? A myriad of things. New machinery could be bought. Efficiencies could be introduced in production cutting the cost of the finishing products. Prices could be reduced, thus making possible more sales which, in turn, would create more jobs. Better wages could be paid and the stockholders' share could be put more in line with that of the tax collector.

THE AVERAGE AMERICAN citizen should give far greater attention to the spending proclivities of his elected representatives. Guard over local and state purse-strings is fairly well controlled. But on a national basis, it isn't.

A local taxpayer would vote down a measure aimed at home improvement. But if the money were to come from Washington he would shout from the rooftops for it.

As these figures so eloquently show, one of the surest ways in which to promote prosperity—a sound and lasting prosperity—is to get taxes down. And until each individual voter exercises his prerogatives in this matter by insisting on governmental economy, expenses and taxes will be too high.

Every wage-earner, every white-collar worker and every executive should be alert to these conditions. And in every community each person should express his opinion in whatever means are available, and insist that every dollar of tax money be efficiently spent.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The middle of October brought us the kind of weather New Yorkers dream about when spending their vacation in our Catskill Mountains. It is good to remember that many New Yorkers work all year so they can spend two weeks in our section, which we enjoy all year around. I spent five winters in New York and how often I heard folks ask, are you near the Hudson river, what's the fall or spring? I think I appreciate fall more because winter seems so near and the foliage is thick and colorful. The burning of leaves anywhere in New York always made me homesick. Most postal cards in this section like to show cats to represent the Catskills. But its the domesticated playful kitten they show. Back in the days of the colonists they were menaced by real wildcats and to them at the time Wildcat Creek Mountains remained a land of terror, animals, Indians and ghosts, according to H. A. Haring who wrote the book Our Catskill Mountains.

The bobcat or Lynx rufus, as it is scientifically known, was a real menace to the Dutch and was a far cry from the basketful of kittens on those cards. It is said, it was only 60 or 70 years ago that their cries had stopped and they seem to have left this region. Once in a while it is said that a fisherman meets one along the stream or headlights spot another. Of course, those things are not told to New Yorkers, for one can live here a whole lifetime and never see a wildcat.

In the early days of the Dutch, there was one compensation for the fear of these bobcats, for they were a source of revenue. In fact, some families accumulated fortunes from the wildcat furs. It is said, that a wildcat, after being killed or caught in a trap, yielded a fur which was, in those times, before machine-made cloth was available, highly prized for warm garments. And, of course, the Indians used to come down from the mountains loaded down with pelts which they only too gladly bartered for the strange white man's goods, such as beads and metal, guns and gunpowder, salt and white man foods. As historians know, the first settlements on the upper Hudson were not laid out by farmers but by fur traders. Indians came down the waterways in canoes to meet the Hollanders who came up the Hudson in ships. The fur trading business went on from New York to this section for more than 200 years, then around 1850 it fell away as the timber was being cut down and the wildcats vanished from the bare mountains which once were thick forests. One of the fortunes built on the wildcats of the Catskills was the first John Jacob Astor. He put his money into Manhattan real estate and so grew his fortune.

They say there is nothing more gloomy or ghostly than a hemlock forest such as once covered the entire Catskill region. It grew almost solid on every square mile from the deepest gully to loftiest summit. The bark is dark in color, the needles are heavy green, almost black, the foliage is dense, so dense that even noonday sunlight cannot penetrate it. Grass does not grow under hemlock, only mysterious ferns and mosses, which need shade and moisture. Even the carpet of hemlock needles gives the forest a carpet of silence. There are still a few of these strange hemlock groves left, all odd to subway-riding New Yorkers.

Throws Weight Around

Omaha (AP)—Traffic investigators found a big reason for damage to an Omaha lawn, its hedges and shrubbery. Lonnie E. Wilson halted his car at the curb to let out Donald Jones, who weighs 300 pounds. The door jammed and Jones was unable to get out. Wilson stepped from the car and Jones, who officers said does not know how to drive a car, attempted to squeeze under the steering wheel. His foot struck the accelerator. The car jumped forward, crashing over the curb and across the lawn. Jones was not hurt.

Viennese Farce Will Be Presented Tonight at Hotel

A professional cast will present the only Kingston performance of the Ferenc Molnar farce of romantic Vienna, The Guardsman, today at 8:30 p. m. in the Crystal Room of Governor Clinton Hotel.

In a setting of the stale elegance of romantic Vienna, two popular Viennese stage favorites battle the problem of suspected infidelity. The actor, played by Frank Echols, and the actress, Norma Gaskill, involve themselves in a farcical situation that only an audience can unravel.

Armed with his theatrical talent, a rented costume and a Russian accent, the actor disguises himself as his possible rival. The situation is complicated by a wise old critic.

The cast will don Viennese costumes for their presentation of this farce this evening.

Water covers about three fourths of the earth's surface.

MRS. PETER McCONACHIE, the former Miss Dorothy Conway of Phoenicia. (Weston photo).

Dorothy Conway, Peter McConachie Wed in Phoenicia

Miss Dorothy Ann Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Conway of Phoenicia, became the bride of Peter James McConachie, son of John McConachie of 380 Fairview avenue, Fairfield, Conn., and the late Mrs. McConachie, in a ceremony Saturday, Oct. 16, at 10:30 a. m. at St. Francis de Sales Church, Phoenicia. The Rev. William Sullivan, MS, officiated.

Floral decorations were white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Garrett Bennett was organist and Miss Mary Jane Dicku was soloist.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a white gown styled with a high oval neckline, nylon tulle yoke, edged with scalloped imported French Chantilly lace, long lace sleeves pointed at the wrists, and a fitted bodice. Her full satin skirt with wide lace scalloped panels on either side of front and back, terminated in a sweep train. A handrolled fingertip silk French illusion veil was shirred to a medallion lace flower headpiece outlined with iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white orchids and roses.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Hudak of West Covina, Calif., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of dusty rose nylon chiffon fashioned with a separate cowl neck effect gathered at the shoulders terminating in a long streamer in the back, molded bodice and a full skirt. Her headpiece was a band of rose colored velvet with a small veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of rose and white pompon chrysanthemums.

THE BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Margaret Egan and Miss Nancy Carr of Bridgeport, Conn., and Miss Frances Ferensak of Fairfield, Conn. Their gowns and headpieces were identical to that worn by the matron of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of white and rose pompon chrysanthemums.

John McConachie of Bridgeport, Conn., served as best man for his brother. The ushers were William Finnell, Robert Kenney and Robert Keane of Bridgeport.

A reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McConachie left for Bermuda following the reception. For traveling, the bride wore a burgundy tweed suit with black accessories, a fur jacket and an orchid corsage.

On their return, the couple will live at 85 Wilson street, Bridgeport, Conn.

The bride is a graduate of St. Vincent's School of Nursing, Bridgeport, Conn., where she is a staff nurse.

The bridegroom, a graduate of University of Connecticut, Storrs, Conn., is employed by E and F Construction Company, Bridgeport.

Industrial Club To Meet Thursday
Harlan Danforth, a staff member of Bruce Payne Associates, business consultants, will address the monthly meeting of the Industrial Management Club Thursday, Oct. 21, at the YMCA starting at 6:30 p. m., it was announced today.

Danforth, formerly connected with B. F. Goodrich, has been doing consulting work with Bruce Payne Associates, mostly in methods improvement for cost reduction, since 1949. At the present time he is engaged in that field at Strocks in Newburgh.

The guest speaker's topic for Thursday's dinner meeting will be Methods Improvement for Cost Reduction.

Reservations for the dinner may be made with the various plant contact men or by calling John Rowland no later than Tuesday morning.

Model Rail Club Show Opens
More than 200 persons attended the opening of the annual exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Sunday at the club quarters, 541 Broadway, next to the West Shore freight station.

The miniature railroad trains rolled up hundreds of miles as they traversed the right-of-way of the enlarged club layout, showing railroad transportation reproduced in both modern and olden-day portrayals.

The local show will continue daily this week from 7 to 9:30 p. m., and next Sunday from 2:30 until 9:30 p. m.

Sandwiches of Lunch Box
When you are making sandwiches for the lunch box, never use melted butter for spreading the bread before adding the spread. Melted butter has a tendency to make the bread soggy; use creamed butter or margarine instead.

(Author of Etiquette, Children At People, etc.)

DO CLOTHES MAKE THE LADY

"I would very much like to have your opinion on the following matter" a letter says this morning "Is it true, Mrs. Post, that clothes make the woman? In other words were you to judge a 'lady' would you consider her clothes, or would you consider her manners, character and morals? I am asking this on behalf of a friend and myself. We consider ourselves well-mannered and have high moral standards but because we choose to wear 'babushkas' to and from school as we find this type of head covering most comfortable, we have been told that we are not ladies. Those who criticize say that no lady would wear a babushka and that this type of head covering is strictly for peasants. In my opinion, peasants can be ladies, too. I would appreciate your commenting on this in your column."

The type of hat you wear certainly doesn't announce that you are a lady or the contrary. What you wear is a matter of being a person of good taste and nothing else.

Asking for Return of Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother-in-law died very suddenly a short while ago. She and a single daughter lived together in a small apartment which the daughter intends to keep. Last Christmas by husband and I gave my mother-in-law a very pretty teaset, and for her birthday, which was just a month before she died, I gave her a rather expensive pin. I would like to know if it would be proper to ask my sister-in-law for the return of these items?

Answer: You shouldn't say anything, but your husband could ask his sister whether she wants either of these things or not, and say that if she doesn't he would like them.

Answering Telephone

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to answer a house telephone? I have always felt that plain "hello" was proper and in best taste. However, I find that more and more people are answering their telephone by saying, "The Jones House" or "The Smith residence," etc. Is "hello" outdated?

Answer: No, it is still correct to answer the telephone in a private house with "hello."

Have you given yourself an etiquette test lately? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-18, includes a list of questions and answers which readers most frequently ask. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

MRS. EDWARD J. McCORDLE, the former Miss Muriel Frances Hoyt of 129 Jansen avenue. (Brentwood Photo)

Miss Muriel Hoyt, Edward J. McCordle Wed at St. Joseph's

The wedding of Miss Frances Hoyt of 129 Jansen avenue, and Edward J. McCordle of 107 Pine Grove avenue, was held Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16, at St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Hoyt. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edward J. McCordle and the late Mr. McCordle.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist. Donald Sweeney, soloist, sang Ave Maria and Mother Be- loved. Church decorations were large white chrysanthemums. White satin bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of parchment taffeta, styled in princess fashion, with an Empire bodice, a yoke of re-embroidered French lace with portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her floor length skirt, terminating in a circular court train, featured godets of sequined lace. A shell type bridal cap of matching lace secured her triple tiered French illusion veil. She carried a lace covered prayer book with a white orchid and white pompons with white satin streamers.

Miss Eleanor Fisher of Calli-con and New York, classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Fred Kuhnle, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Miss Fisher wore a gown of lavender crystallette, styled in princess fashion, with a waltz length skirt and a spencer jacket, and a headband of matching lilies of the valley. The matron of honor's gown of capucine was of identical style. Miss Fisher carried a bouquet of deep purple pompons with red Italian wheat. The matron of honor carried a cascade of yellow pompons with yellow Italian wheat.

The attendants were Miss Esther Ausanio and Mrs. Ferrell McElrath, of this city, classmates of the bride. Their gowns of emerald green were of identical style to that worn by the matron of honor. They carried identical bouquets.

James T. McCordle served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Dr. Donald K. Matthews, uncle of the bride, of Springfield, Mass., Ira Troast, of Dover, N. J., college classmate of the bridegroom, and Fred Kuhnle, USN, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Alpine Hotel, DeWitt Lake, for 125 guests, following the ceremony.

For the motor trip through the Adirondacks and northern New York state, the bride wore a black faille suit trimmed with black velvet with heather rose and black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1951. She was head nurse at Kingston Hospital.

The bridegroom, who graduated from Kingston High School in 1947, is a member of the class of 1952 of Seton Hall University. He served two years with the Army Medical Corps when he was stationed in Germany.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The "Angelic" Invalid

Anyone who has been an invalid or who has cared for one knows that physical illness can seriously affect the personality. Especially during an illness such as tuberculosis which may require months of treatment, the patient's behavior may change so much that he seems a different person. Unfortunately, he does not always become the angelic invalid we read about in novels.

The modern doctor thinks in terms of "psychosomatic medicine." His patient is not a machine with parts that need repair, but a whole human being. He knows that purely physical derangements, such as fever, can cause temporarily disturbed emotions. He knows also that the way a patient feels about his illness may not only keep him from following prescribed treatment, but actually make him worse or cause some new physical upset to complicate the original illness.

UNCERTAINTY about himself, his future, his family is perhaps most difficult for the TB patient to endure. Unless he is reassured by the attitude of the people around him and by learning the facts about his disease, he will have to relieve the stress of intense anxiety in some way. He may do this by giving up adult behavior.

He may display childish irritability, tantrums, and unreasonable demands. Other patients may react as submissive, well-behaved children. They may become over-dependent on the doctor and on receiving treatment, and resist any effort to break the bonds. Still others release their anxiety by becoming hostile and aggressive, and try to hurt themselves and others. The type of reaction, of course, depends on the basic and sometimes hidden personality traits the sick person brings to his new situation.

BY FACING the psychological problems of illness frankly and with sympathetic understanding, the family of the TB patient can make an important contribution to his welfare. Satisfying his mental and emotional needs can be just as important as performing the mechanical tasks of nursing.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to answer a house telephone? I have always felt that plain "hello" was proper and in best taste. However, I find that more and more people are answering their telephone by saying, "The Jones House" or "The Smith residence," etc. Is "hello" outdated?

Answer: No, it is still correct to answer the telephone in a private house with "hello."

Have you given yourself an etiquette test lately? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-18, includes a list of questions and answers which readers most frequently ask. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

MRS. EDWARD J. McCORDLE, the former Miss Muriel Frances Hoyt of 129 Jansen avenue. (Brentwood Photo)

Miss Muriel Hoyt, Edward J. McCordle Wed at St. Joseph's

The wedding of Miss Frances Hoyt of 129 Jansen avenue, and Edward J. McCordle of 107 Pine Grove avenue, was held Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16, at St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Hoyt. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edward J. McCordle and the late Mr. McCordle.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist. Donald Sweeney, soloist, sang Ave Maria and Mother Blessed. Church decorations were large white chrysanthemums. White satin bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of parchment taffeta, styled in princess fashion, with an Empire bodice, a yoke of re-embroidered French lace with portrait neckline, long tapered sleeves. Her floor length skirt, terminating in a circular court train, featured godets of sequined lace. A shell type bridal cap of matching lace secured her triple tiered French illusion veil. She carried a lace covered prayer book with a white orchid and white pompons with white satin streamers.

Miss Eleanor Fisher of Callicoon and New York, classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Fred Kuhnelt, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Miss Fisher wore a gown of lavender crystallette, styled in princess fashion, with a waltz length skirt and a spencer jacket, and a headband of matching lilies of the valley. The matron of honor's gown of capucine was of identical style. Miss Fisher carried a bouquet of deep purple pompons with red Italian wheat. The matron of honor carried a cascade of yellow pompons with yellow Italian wheat.

The attendants were Miss Esther Ausanio and Mrs. Ferrell McElrath, of this city, classmates of the bride. Their gowns of emerald green were of identical style to that worn by the matron of honor. They carried identical bouquets.

James T. McCordle served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Dr. Donald K. Matthews, uncle of the bride, of Springfield, Mass., Ira Troast, of Dover, N. J., college classmate of the bridegroom, and Fred Kuhnelt, USN, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Alpine Hotel, DeWitt Lake, for 125 guests, following the ceremony.

For the motor trip through the Adirondacks and northern New York state, the bride wore a black faille suit trimmed with black velvet with heather rose and black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1951. She was head nurse at Kingston Hospital.

The bridegroom, who graduated from Kingston High School in 1947, is a member of the class of 1952 of Seton Hall University. He served two years with the Army Medical Corps when he was stationed in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. McCordle will live at 124 South Main street, Dolgeville, where the bridegroom is city recreational director.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The "Angelic" Invalid

Anyone who has been an invalid or who has cared for one knows that physical illness can seriously affect the personality. Especially during an illness such as tuberculosis which may require months of treatment, the patient's behavior may change so much that he seems a different person. Unfortunately, he does not always become the angelic invalid we read about in novels.

The modern doctor thinks in terms of "psychosomatic medicine." His patient is not a machine with parts that need repair, but a whole human being. He knows that purely physical derangements, such as fever, can cause temporarily disturbed emotions. He knows also that the way a patient feels about his illness may not only keep him from following prescribed treatment, but actually make him worse or cause some new physical upset to complicate the original illness.

UNCERTAINTY about himself, his future, his family is perhaps most difficult for the TB patient to endure. Unless he is reassured by the attitude of the people around him and by learning the facts about his disease, he will have to relieve the stress of intense anxiety in some way. He may do this by giving up adult behavior.

He may display childish irritability, tantrums, and unreasonable demands. Other patients may react as submissive, well-behaved children. They may become over-dependent on the doctor and on receiving treatment, and resist any effort to break the bonds. Still others release their anxiety by becoming hostile and aggressive, and try to hurt themselves and others.

The type of reaction, of course, depends on the basic and sometimes hidden personality traits the sick person brings to his new situation.

BY FACING the psychologic problems of illness frankly and with sympathetic understanding, the family of the TB patient can make an important contribution to his welfare. Satisfying his mental and emotional needs can be just as important as performing the mechanical tasks of nursing.

Young Couples Club

Benefits Firehouse

Saugerties, Oct. 18 — The Malden-West Camp Fire Company at the regular monthly meeting Thursday night learned that its firehouse building fund was enriched by the net proceeds of a benefit dance sponsored by the Young Couples Club of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The first member proposed from Cementon, Joseph Konopka was accepted into the company as an associate honorary member. The company in accordance with its by-laws cannot accept active members outside the fire district unless the proposed member is a property owner in the district. However, due to the proximity of the Cementon hamlet and the possibility of future protection by the company this ruling may be amended to include residents of Cementon as active members rather than honorary members. Also voted into the company as an active member was Alvah Cody of Malden.

The building-planning committee reported progress at both firehouse sites. According to the report the West Camp station building is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for the roof shortly.

Traditional Dinner

Saugerties, Oct. 18 — More than 500 of the congregation and friends of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp joined in the traditional harvest dinner which was served by the ladies of the parish Thursday night.

The table decorations accented the autumn season although the weather resembled more nearly a summer evening.

Among the dignitaries in attendance were town and village officials and visiting clergymen from Ellenville, Kingston, Saugerties, Catskill, Athens and Coxsack.

The dinner chairladies were Mrs. Catherine Finch and Mrs. Harry L. Moose. The dining room chairladies were Mrs. Herman Knaust and Mrs. Harry R. Coon. Heading the ticket committee was J. Charles Stewart, chairman and Mrs. Nelson Burhans in charge of reservations.

THESE ARE the headline speakers who will be featured during the general sessions of the annual South Eastern Zone of the New York State Teachers' Association scheduled in New York city Friday, Oct. 22.

South Eastern Zone Teachers Plan Annual Meeting Oct. 22

More than 9,000 teachers from the seven South Eastern Zone counties are expected to attend the annual-zone meeting of the New York State Teacher's Association in New York Friday, Oct. 22, it was announced today by Arthur J. Lynch, president.

Lynch also is a teacher at Bronxville High School. The New York parley is one of 10 being held in the various areas of the state by the 56,000-member State Teacher's Association.

THE SOUTH EASTERN Zone includes teachers from the counties of Ulster, Supervisory Districts 2 and 3; Dutchess, Supervisory Districts 1 and 2; Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester.

Four headline speakers will be featured at the general sessions to be held in Manhattan Center and in Carnegie Hall. The programs at the two sessions will be identical, with speakers following a schedule of rotation.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and one of the most dynamic labor leaders in America, will give his address, "The Challenge of Education in Our Free Society."

George N. Shuster, outstanding educator and president of Hunter College, will speak on the topic "Bright Star and Crowded Wagon."

The speaking program will be rounded out with two addresses by Kenneth A. Myers, president of the New York State Teachers' Association, and Lyle W. Ashby, assistant secretary of Professional Relations of the National Education Association.

Greetings and welcome will be extended to the 9,000 teachers by Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools of New York.

THE AFTERNOON PROGRAM will consist of a number of section meetings and tours arranged to meet the variety of interests of the thousands of teachers.

Mary K. Bain of the Port Chester Junior High School is in charge of the tours, which will include visits to the General Post Office, Macy's Department Store, the Stock Exchange, La Guardia Airport, United Nations, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York Times, New York's Garment District, lower New York and Chinatown, New York Botanical Gardens, Hayden Planetarium, Ellis Island, Good Housekeeping Institute, boat trip around Manhattan in a famous ocean liner, the Isle de France.

The annual Zone business meeting will take place in the Hotel New Yorker, Saturday, Oct. 23, from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Delegates and alternates are eligible to attend this meeting.

Reports of committees will be received, resolutions will be acted upon, and officers for 1954-55 will be elected.

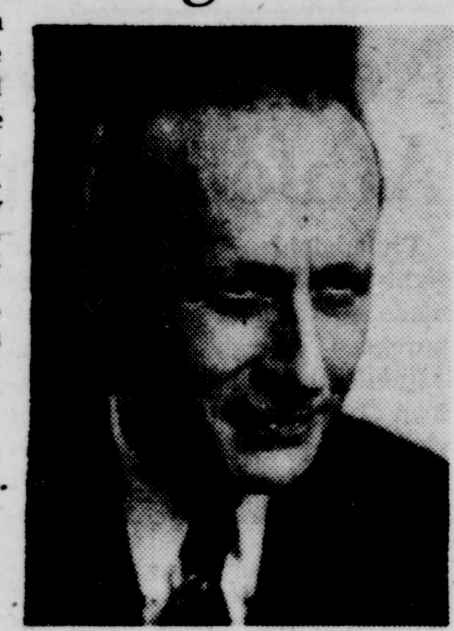

In addition to President Lynch, the other officers include Mary K. Bain, Port Chester Junior High School, first vice-president; Joseph B. Kenny, Suffern High School, second vice-president; V. Burton Bremenstahl, Monticello High School, recording secretary and William Elder, Davis High School, Mount Vernon, corresponding secretary.

Arsonist Is Sought

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Police searched today for a firebug suspected of setting seven small fires in a seven-block area in Brooklyn during the early morning. There were no injuries and damage was slight, but firemen were busy answering alarms over a five-hour period in the Bay Ridge section.

ing, throwing a heavy burden on the crowded subway lines.

The government was reported ready to order 15,000 troops to work ships. A labor ministry court of inquiry, set up to investigate the dock strike, will hold a preliminary meeting today.

Deakin, who has denounced both the dock and bus stoppages as a "Communist conspiracy," declared the Liverpool strike vote was "taken in darkness" and said hundreds of men had left the meeting after an earlier vote against a walkout.

PICKETS, egged on by British Communist Party leaders, sought to enlist the additional stevedores in the strike.

The Communist Daily Worker quoted party secretary Harry Pollitt as saying the "Communist Party has no apologies of any kind to make for activities of its members in trade unions."

The Daily Worker said a "mass meeting of 10,000 men voted for solidarity action" at Liverpool. Other newspapers placed the number of those present as low as 3,000.

Tugmen on the Thames river joined the striking dock workers yesterday. The 4,500 river tugmen handle more than half of London's gasoline and oil supplies, along with coal for power plants.

The chief issue in the dock strike is the demand by stevedores for the right to refuse overtime work. The busmen walked out last week when the transport system introduced new schedules. Strikers claimed they were being forced to overwork to make up for a shortage of 22,000 drivers and conductors.

Rationing of bacon began in some sections of London and panic buying of gasoline was reported in several areas. Shortages of eggs and butter also were developing in the metropolitan area.

President to Speak

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower has decided to make half-hour "non-partisan" speeches at public appearances he has scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights in New York city. Previously, the word had been that Eisenhower would have only a few brief remarks.

Asked why the scope of the talks had been expanded, Presidential Secretary James Hagerty said, "The President has something to say which he can't cover in a few minutes."

Wednesday's address will be to a meeting marking the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Jewish faith in America. Thursday, the President is to attend a memorial dinner for Alfred E. Smith, one-time governor of New York and 1928 Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Another Snag

state committee; hence tonight's meeting.

State GOP Chairman O.J. Wilkinson said that county and other GOP leaders had been instructed to come to the meeting armed with a sample of opinion in their home districts.

HE SAID REACTION to Stringfellow's disclosure at state party headquarters was "tremendous," and that a "large volume" of the telephone calls and telegrams indicated the callers would still vote for the congressman.

Wilkinson and other observers agreed that the reaction, whether pro or con, was strong. Asked if there had been any reaction from national GOP officials, Wilkinson said there was none. He said a copy of Stringfellow's statement had been mailed to national party officials and to the White House, inviting comment, but that these probably wouldn't reach Washington until today.

STRINGFELLOW made his electrifying disclosure on the heels of a story published in the veterans edition of the Army Times, an unofficial Washington newspaper, which questioned the authenticity of his tale of wartime espionage.

"Like many other persons suddenly thrust into the limelight I rather thrived on the adulation and new-found popularity," he said sadly, reading to the television camera from a prepared statement.

"I fell into the trap which in part had been laid by my own glib tongue."

THE CONGRESSMAN explained that he had invented his tale of heroism to help "carry my philosophy of the goodness of life to all those who might listen."

Reaction to his confession wasn't confined to Stringfellow's home state. In New Orleans, Evangelist Billy Graham announced at a crusade sermon that he almost wept when he heard of it. A woman in Houston, Texas, announced that a scheduled Stringfellow lecture there would be promptly cancelled.

And Ralph Edwards, producer of the "This Is Your Life" program that featured Stringfellow's tale last January, said that "by the time we decided to do it the story had been printed and reprinted so many times it was unimpeachable."

AN INDEPENDENT motion picture producer announced that he had obtained movie rights to the bogus story only this week.

Stringfellow, married, and the father of two small boys, wears braces on his legs as the aftermath of a mine explosion in France during the last war.

Only last week, a top state Democratic official had privately admitted that he thought Stringfellow's opponent, Walter K. Grant, had little chance of beating the congressman.

And yesterday, there were many who were still inclined to believe—privately—that Stringfellow could win anyway if left on the GOP ticket. A number of Republican leaders indicated they felt this to be the case, but said they were still doubtful as to which way they would decide on the question of allowing him to run.

Sen. Arthur V. Watkins, the Utah Republican who headed the McCarthy censure committee and who was with Stringfellow when he made his public statement Saturday, said "It takes a big man to do this."

Democrats were silent yesterday, and efforts to locate opponent Granger were fruitless. The only comment came Saturday from Democratic State Chairman Milton L. Wellenmann, who expressed sympathy for Stringfellow but added, "I don't think that the man should repent by asking to be elected to Congress."

Ives Says

saw a need and could not rest until they had met it."

IF ELECTED governor, he said he would "constantly study this field . . . anticipate its needs and provide the steps by which they can be met."

In a television address from Buffalo Saturday night, Ives said that he would seek state income tax deductions for working mothers, the aged and the infirm.

Ives said he would try "to make income tax law more human."

He mentioned specifically deductions for medical expenses, for working mothers, and "for those who have to care for dependents."

UNEMPLOYMENT, Ives said could not be cured solely by a public works program "though you got to do all you can that way."

Higher benefits to the jobless—which he has promised—could be "merely a sedative" for unemployment, he said, adding:

"We've got to get to work in honest-to-goodness jobs."

In an earlier speech in Buffalo Saturday, Ives said the Democrats were urging heavy spending that could start "a vicious spiral towards socialism."

Socialism, he added, is but a step from communism and "that's just what we are trying to prevent in this country."

British Cabinet

Birch, 47, formerly an under-secretary of defense.

Solicitor general—H. B. Hylton-Foster, 49.

Minister without portfolio—The Earl of Munster, 48.

The shakeup also involved a number of junior ministers. The shifts in the Churchill government were announced on the eve of the reconvening of Parliament. Both houses go back into session tomorrow after a summer recess.

Dewey Says He Will Stir Up GOP Election Drive

Poughkeepsie, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Poughkeepsie New Yorker, said today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told Dutchess and Columbia county GOP leaders over the weekend that the election campaign was going "very badly" for the Republicans.

The newspaper also said that Dewey indicated he would take a more active part in the campaign from now until election day.

The New Yorker said Dewey made the statement after he dedicated a new section of the Taconic State Parkway on Saturday.

The paper further said the governor headed back to Albany for a series of conferences with party leaders designed to inject more life into the GOP campaign.

The newspaper did not identify the source of its story saying only it was heard and relayed by a Dutchess county GOP leader.

Voting Machine Work School Is Planned

A school of instruction for custodians of voting machines, party representatives and inspectors from the city and county will be held Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p. m. at Wiltwyck Hose Company Firehouse, Fair street.

All custodians, inspectors or others interested are invited to attend the school which will be conducted by Percy Jones, city of Kingston custodian. There will be instruction on setting up, maintaining and operation of voting machines.

Albany, Oct. 18 (AP)—A dramatic picture of police arresting a man moments after he had attacked a woman has won Barney Coons of the New York Mirror the best-of-show award in the New York State Associated Press Assn. annual newsphoto contest.

The photograph, entitled "Attacker at Bay," was among 290 entries scrutinized by judges here yesterday. It was selected also as best in the spot news classification for newspapers of 50,000 circulation or more.

Coons received $50 for each award.

The newsphoto contest each year precedes the opening of the NYSAPA annual meeting, which convened today. Averell Harriman, Democratic-Liberal nominee for governor, was scheduled to address the luncheon session.

SEN. IRVING M. IVES, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, will speak at the dinner tonight.

The photos were judged in two classifications—one for papers of 50,000 circulation or more, and another for smaller publications.

Also voted into the company as an active member was Alvah Cody of Malden.

The building-planning committee reported progress at both firehouse sites. According to the report the West Camp station building is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for the roof shortly.

Over 500 Attend Traditional Dinner

Saugerties, Oct. 18 — More than 500 of the congregation and friends of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp joined in the traditional harvest dinner which was served by the ladies of the parish Thursday night.

The table decorations accented the autumn season although the weather resembled more nearly a summer evening.

Among the dignitaries in attendance were town and village officials and visiting clergymen from Ellenville, Kingston, Saugerties, Catskill, Athens and Coxsack.

The dinner chairladies were Mrs. Catherine Finch and Mrs. Harry L. Moose. The dining room chairladies were Mrs. Herman Knaust and Mrs. Harry R. Coon. Heading the ticket committee was J. Charles Stewart, chairman and Mrs. Nelson Burhans in charge of reservations.

South Eastern Zone Teachers Plan Annual Meeting Oct. 22

More than 9,000 teachers from the seven South Eastern Zone counties are expected to attend the annual-zone meeting of the New York State Teacher's Association in New York Friday, Oct. 22, it was announced today by Arthur J. Lynch, president.

Lynch also is a teacher at Bronxville High School.

The New York parley is one of 10 being held in the various areas of the state by the 56,000-member State Teacher's Association.

THE SOUTH EASTERN Zone includes teachers from the counties of Ulster, Supervisory Districts 2 and 3; Dutchess, Supervisory Districts 1 and 2; Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester.

Four headline speakers will be featured at the general sessions to be held in Manhattan Center and in Carnegie Hall. The programs at the two sessions will be identical, with speakers following a schedule of rotation.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and one of the most dynamic labor leaders in America, will give his address, "The Challenge of Education in Our Free Society." George N. Shuster, outstanding educator and president of Hunter College, will speak on the topic "Bright Star and Crowded Wagon." The speaking program will be rounded out with two addresses by Kenneth A. Myers, president of the New York State Teachers' Association, and Lyle W. Ashby, assistant secretary of Professional Relations of the National Education Association. Greetings and welcome will be extended to the 9,000 teachers by Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools of New York.

THE AFTERNOON PROGRAM will consist of a number of section meetings and tours arranged to meet the variety of interests of the thousands of teachers. Mary K. Bain of the Port Chester Junior High School is in charge of the tours, which will include visits to the General Post Office, Macy's Department Store, the Stock Exchange, La Guardia Airport, United Nations, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York Times, New York's Garment District, lower New York and Chinatown, New York Botanical Gardens, Hayden Planetarium, Ellis Island, Good Housekeeping Institute, boat trip around Manhattan in a famous ocean liner, the Isle de France.

The annual Zone business meeting will take place in the Hotel New Yorker, Saturday, Oct. 23, from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Delegates and alternates are eligible to attend this meeting. Reports of committees will be received, resolutions will be acted upon, and officers for 1954-55 will be elected.

In addition to President Lynch, the other officers include Mary K. Bain, Port Chester Junior High School, first vice-president; Joseph B. Kenny, Southern High School, second vice-president; V. Burton Bremenstahl, Monticello High School, recording secretary; and William Elder, Davis High School, Mount Vernon, corresponding secretary.

Arsonist Is Sought

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Police searched today for a firebug suspected of setting seven small fires in a seven-block area in Brooklyn during the early morning. There were no injuries and damage was slight, but firemen were busy answering alarms over a five-hour period in the Bay Ridge section.

ing, throwing a heavy burden on the crowded subway lines.

The government was reported ready to order 15,000 troops to work ships. A labor ministry court of inquiry, set up to investigate the dock strike, will hold a preliminary meeting today.

Deakin, who has denounced both the dock and bus stoppages as a "Communist conspiracy," declared the Liverpool strike vote was "taken in darkness" and said hundreds of men had left the meeting after an earlier vote against a walkout.

PICKETS, egged on by British Communist Party leaders, sought to enlist the additional stevedores in the strike.

The Communist Daily Worker quoted party secretary Harry Pollitt as saying the "Communist Party has no apologies of any kind to make for activities of its members in trade unions."

The Daily Worker said a "mass meeting of 10,000 men voted for solidarity action" at Liverpool. Other newspapers placed the number of those present as low as 3,000.

Tugmen on the Thames river joined the striking dock workers yesterday. The 4,500 river tugmen handle more than half of London's gasoline and oil supplies, along with coal for power plants.

The chief issue in the dock strike is the demand by stevedores for the right to refuse overtime work. The busmen walked out last week when the transport system introduced new schedules. Strikers claimed they were being forced to overwork to make up for a shortage of 22,000 drivers and conductors.

President to Speak

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower has decided to make a half-hour "non-partisan" speech at public appearances he has scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights in New York city. Previously, the word had been that Eisenhower would have only a few brief remarks. Asked why the scope of the talks had been expanded, Presidential Secretary James Hagerly said, "The President has something to say which he can't cover in a few minutes." Wednesday's address will be to a meeting marking the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Jewish faith in America. Thursday, the President is to attend a memorial dinner for Alfred E. Smith, one-time governor of New York and 1928 Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Another Snag

state committee; hence tonight's meeting.

State GOP Chairman O. J. Wilkinson said that county and other GOP leaders had been instructed to come to the meeting armed with a sample of opinion in their home districts.

HE SAID REACTION to Stringfellow's disclosure at state party headquarters was "tremendous," and that a "large volume" of the telephone calls and telegrams indicated the callers would still vote for the congressman.

Wilkinson and other observers agreed that the reaction, whether pro or con, was strong. Asked if there had been any reaction from national GOP officials, Wilkinson said there was none. He said a copy of Stringfellow's statement had been mailed to national party officials and to the White House, inviting comment, but that these probably wouldn't reach Washington until today.

STRINGFELLOW made his electrifying disclosure on the heels of a story published in the veterans edition of the Army Times, an unofficial Washington newspaper, which questioned the authenticity of his tale of wartime espionage.

"Like many other persons suddenly thrust into the limelight I rather thrived on the adulation and new-found popularity," he said sadly, reading to the television camera from a prepared statement.

"I fell into the trap which in part had been laid by my own glib tongue."

THE CONGRESSMAN explained that he had invented his tale of heroism to help "carry my philosophy of the goodness of life to all those who might list."

Reaction to his confession wasn't confined to Stringfellow's home state. In New Orleans, Evangelist Billy Graham announced at a crusade sermon that he almost wept when he heard of it. A woman in Houston, Texas, announced that a scheduled Stringfellow lecture there would be promptly cancelled. And Ralph Edwards, producer of the "This Is Your Life" program that featured Stringfellow's tale last January, said that "by the time we decided to do it the story had been printed and repeated so many times it was unimpeachable."

AN INDEPENDENT motion picture producer announced that he had obtained movie rights to the bogus story only this week.

Stringfellow, married and the father of two small boys, wears braces on his legs as the aftermath of a mine explosion in France during the last war.

Only last week, a top state Democratic official had privately admitted that he thought Stringfellow's opponent, Walter K. Grant, had little chance of beating the congressman.

And yesterday, there were many who were still inclined to believe—privately—that Stringfellow could win anyway if left on the GOP ticket. A number of Republican leaders indicated they felt this to be the case, but said they were still doubtful as to which way they would decide on the question of allowing him to run.

Sen. Arthur V. Watkins, the Utah Republican who headed the McCarthy censure committee and who was with Stringfellow when he made his public statement Saturday, said "It takes a big man to do this."

Democrats were silent yesterday, and efforts to locate opponent Granger were fruitless. The only comment came Saturday from Democratic State Chairman Milton L. Wellenmann, who expressed sympathy for Stringfellow but added, "I don't think that the man should repent by asking to be elected to Congress."

saw a need and could not rest until they had met it."

IF ELECTED governor, he said he would "constantly study this field . . . anticipate its needs and provide the steps by which they can be met."

In a television address from Buffalo Saturday night, Ives said that he would seek state income tax deductions for working mothers, the aged and the infirm. Ives said he would try to make income tax law more human.

He mentioned specifically deductions for medical expenses, for working mothers, and "for those who have to care for dependents."

UNEMPLOYMENT, Ives said could not be cured solely by a public works program "though you got to do all you can that way."

Higher benefits to the jobless—which he has promised—could be "merely a sedative" for unemployment, he said, adding: "We've got to get to work in honest-to-goodness jobs."

In an earlier speech in Buffalo Saturday, Ives said the Democrats were urging heavy spending that could start "a vicious spiral towards socialism."

Socialism, he added, is but a step from communism and "that's just what we are trying to prevent in this country."

British Cabinet

Birch, 47, formerly an under-secretary of defense.

Solicitor general—H. B. Hylton-Foster, 49.

Minister without portfolio—The Earl of Munster, 48.

The shakeup also involved a number of junior ministers. The shifts in the Churchill government were announced on the eve of the reconvening of Parliament. Both houses go back into session tomorrow after a summer recess.

Dewey Says He Will Stir Up GOP Election Drive

Poughkeepsie, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Poughkeepsie New Yorker, said today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told Dutchess and Columbia county GOP leaders over the weekend that the election campaign was going "very badly" for the Republicans.

The newspaper also said that Dewey indicated he would take a more active part in the campaign from now until election day.

The New Yorker said Dewey made the statement after he dedicated a new section of the Taconic State Parkway on Saturday.

The paper further said the governor headed back to Albany for a series of conferences with party leaders designed to inject more life into the GOP campaign.

The newspaper did not identify the source of its story saying only it was heard and relayed by a Dutchess county GOP leader.

Albany, Oct. 18 (AP)—A dramatic picture of police arresting a man moments after he had attacked a woman has won Barney Coons of the New York Mirror the best-of-show award in the New York State Associated Press Assn. annual newspaper photo contest.

The photograph, entitled "Attacker at Bay," was among 290 entries scrutinized by judges here yesterday. It was selected also as best in the spot news classification for newspapers of 50,000 circulation or more.

Coons received $50 for each award.

The newspaper contest each year precedes the opening of the NYSAPA annual meeting, which convened today. Averell Harriman, Democratic-Liberal nominee for governor, was scheduled to address the luncheon session.

SEN. IRVING M. IVES, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, will speak at the dinner tonight.

The photos were judged in two classifications—one for papers of 50,000 circulation or more, and another for smaller publications.

Winners of the three divisions in each class received $50, second places were worth $25 and third prizes $10.

Coons' spot news entry showed police forcing a man up the basement stairway of a West Side Manhattan tenement. The woman he had attacked was lying on the basement floor.

TOP SPORTS division entry in the smaller paper class was "Oops" by George Palmateer of the Poughkeepsie New Yorker, showing the Poughkeepsie High School junior varsity crew scrambling in the water, the shell on its side and oars awry after a spill during a Hudson river race. Heads turned but oars still flashing, the Roosevelt High School crew was crossing the finish line. "Leaping Leaguer," Warren W. Ingles, White Plains Reporter-Dispatch, won honorable mention.

The entries were judged by Joseph F. Dietz, managing editor of the Newark Star-Ledger; Ben Wickham, picture editor of Look magazine, and Dr. Irving Richter, former president of the Albany Camera Club.

Middletown High Beats Kingston, 25-13, to Share DUSO Lead

Poughkeepsie Shades Port, 14-13; Massa Scores Two TDs for Maroon

It was a strange picture the DUSO League's pre-season prophets found waiting for them Saturday night after two conference clashes which established Middletown High and Newburgh Academy as league leaders.

It's a little too early in the season to predict a winner but at the moment, the Middies and Goldbacks are in the forefront. Each team has a 1-0 record with Kingston and Poughkeepsie already beaten once.

The opportunists of Middletown High established themselves as solid pennant contenders with a thumping 25-13 victory over Kingston High Saturday at Wilson Field.

At the same time, Poughkeepsie High, just ordinary with its gifted runner, Charlie Johnson, sidelined with injuries, had to repel two fourth period thrusts by Port Jervis to nip the Red Raiders, 14 to 13.

Two extra point kicks by Monty Stickle gave Sam Kalloch's Blues their margin of victory, as Dick Pagano, the Port kicker batted only .500 on two attempts.

GENE MASSA scurried 60 yards up the middle and 17 yards off tackle for Kingston's two touchdowns in a rather strange exhibition by the Maroons.

It was a bad day for the Maroons who fumbled five times—with the Middies recovering each time—failed to complete a pass in six attempts and with an odd twist never had to punt. Middletown led 13 at the half, picking up a first quarter TD after John Price and Ray Onorati swooped on a Bob Nash fumble on Kingston 18 right after the opening kickoff. Five plays later quarterback Artie Myers rammed over from the 3 to make it 6-0. Myers missed the extra kick try.

The Middies moved 56 yards on 9 plays in the second period, with Myers again bucking over from the 3.

KINGSTON TRAILED 19-0 in the third quarter before Gene Massa stirred the crowd with a 60-yard gallop up the middle. A pitchout from Nash to Massa went haywire on the Kingston 45. Ray Onorati swooped it up on the Maroon 40 and went the rest of the way.

The Maroon bounced back on the next kickoff with Massa threading through center on the first play from scrimmage, eluding a couple of line backers and racing unopposed into the end zone.

Later Kingston showed its only sustained power of the day a short while later, marching 86 yards on seven plays. Massa bolted off tackle from the 17 and place kicked the extra point to make it 19-13.

A 20-yard pass play from Myers to Stoltz set up Middletown's final TD late in the game. Stoltz was wrestled down on the Kingston 1 but Cliff Wright crashed over on the next play. In Kingston's 86-yard trek, Massa, Johnson and Ashdown ripped off huge chunks of real estate for four first downs to the Kingston 37 to Middletown's 17 and Massa was sprung for the TD from that point.

TWO SECOND period touchdowns and Stickle's two vital extra points gave Poughkeepsie its first league triumph.

A 10-yard pass play, George Phillips to Monty Stickle, climaxed a 70-yard touchdown trek for the Blues after Port Jervis had moved 54 yards on five plays to lead 6-0. A 5-yard jump pass from Dick Pencok to Bill Becker was the payoff. Pagano's kick for the extra point was blocked and it later proved to be a costly miscue. Phillips scored Poughkeepsie's second TD with a 12-yard end sprint. A 37-yard pass play from Pencok to Bob Freytag put the Red Raiders within a point of the Blues, 14-13, but that wasn't enough. The pass was bobbed around on the Poughkeepsie 15 but Freytag plucked it out of the air and scampered the remaining distance.

Port picked up a blocked punt on the Poughkeepsie 26 and later advanced to the Blues 25 in the fourth quarter but the Blues stiffened and held for the downs.

The University of North Carolina football eleven this fall is making it tough for sports writers who may stumble on their spelling. Among the Tar Heel players are Stavitski, Marcinko, Muschamp, Boyette, Marcopulos and Kiochak.

Gavilan-Saxton Tops Boxing Slate for Week

By MURRAY ROSE (The Associated Press)

Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and challenger Johnny Saxton, both eager to get the affair over with, will make a third attempt Wednesday night to have it out in a 15-round title fight in Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

The twice-postponed bout originally was scheduled for July 14 and then Sept. 1. The first postponement was caused by the Cuban champ's injured right hand and the second when the Keep came down with a virus and the mumps.

The clever, 28-year-old Gavilan still is the 1-2 favorite to make good in his eighth title defense. Saxton, 24, makes his bid with a fine 43-2-2 record. His two losses were by split decisions to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan. Starting time is 10 p. m., EST. CBS will telecast the bout coast to coast with a 100-mile area around Philadelphia blacked out of the TV.

GERRY DREYER, the former British Empire welterweight champion from South Africa, is a slight favorite to spoil the New York debut of Ramon Tiscareno at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The 20-year-old Mexican who fights out of Los Angeles is highly touted. But recent invaders from the west have been taking regular beatings and the experts want to wait and see. The 10-round bout will be telecast by DuMont to some parts of the country starting at 10 p. m., EST. Paddy Young, hoping to get back in the middleweight top flight, is a 1-2 choice to whip rugged Jesse Turner of St. Louis in the other Monday night TV bout (ABC-TV, 10 p. m., EST) beamed out of Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

When Donald Healey, 56-year-old racing driver, recently broke the world's record with his sports car on a flying mile course (192.63 miles per hour is Healey's new record) at Bonneville Flats, Utah, he additionally broke nine other international and American records.

Arkansas, Army Move To Top of Grid Heap

By ED CORRIGAN (The Associated Press)

This crazy-quilt college football season is approaching the halfway point, and coaches are beginning to think in terms of conference championships and possible bowl bids. Some of the teams that were buried so far down in the pre-season ratings, you had to look at the small print to find them, are right in the thick of things.

Arkansas, for one, could write a real rags-to-riches story if the Razorbacks win the Southwest Conference title. They haven't taken it in 18 years, all the while suffering humiliation after humiliation from the big boys like Texas, Baylor, Rice and Co. But their stunning 20-7 triumph over Texas last Saturday left them one of the dozen and a half major undefeated teams in the country. What's more, Arkansas is in a position to win the crown and go on to the Cotton Bowl as host club. It's a conference where the unusual is the usual, though. Bowden Wyatt's lads still play Texas A. and M. Rice and Southern Methodist, so they could meet their downfall.

AND WHO WOULD have thought Army would emerge as the top team in the east after its wretched showing against South Carolina in the beginning of the season? But the Cadets' fine 28-14 triumph over Duke sent them right to the top in their section.

Both the Big 10 and Ivy League have been surprising. Illinois and Michigan State were expected to make serious bids for the Big 10 title. Both currently are pulling up the rear, while Wisconsin and Ohio State, two of the unbeaten, go at it this Saturday. Out of this game could emerge the Rose Bowl team.

Wisconsin polished off once-amiable Purdue 20-6 and Ohio State kept its record spotless by defeating Iowa 20-14. Once-beaten Michigan plays Minnesota for the Little Brown Jug in another game that could have some bearing on the title.

In the Ivy League, Cornell was the heavy favorite, but the Big Red is just playing out the schedule now. Instead, Yale, which hasn't won the championship since 1946, is in a favorable position to come through. The Elis' 47-21 victory over Cornell last week sent them into undisputed possession of the lead since Princeton dropped a 21-0 decision to Brown.

NO ONE SEEMS capable of catching UCLA in the Pacific Coast Conference, but the Uclans can't go back to the Rose Bowl, so they're playing for national honors rather than a post-season game. They massacred Stanford 72-0 in their last outing.

Southern California probably will get the bid if it gets past California Saturday. After that, the Trojans still have games with UCLA, Stanford, Washington and Oregon State. Throw the Uclan game out, and they shouldn't have any trouble.

OKlahoma, the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and sports casters, heads the Big Seven, as usual, Colorado, probably the only club capable of giving the Sooners a healthy workout, looks like the conference's Orange Bowl team since Oklahoma isn't eligible this year.

In the tough Atlantic Coast Conference which supplies the other team for the Orange Bowl, defending national champion Maryland still has a good chance, with Duke and Wake Forest still in the running, too.

UNDEFEATED Mississippi is in a peculiar position. Ol' Miss could win the Southeastern Conference title and go on to the Sugar Bowl and with its soft schedule probably will do just that. The schedule has worked against the rebels in the Nation-

Last Minute Miracle

New Syndicate to Keep Athletics in Philly

Philadelphia, Oct. 18 (AP)—An eight-man Philadelphia syndicate made a dramatic last minute purchase of the Philadelphia Athletics last night saving American League baseball for this city. The action ended the baseball life of one of the game's greatest figures, 91-year-old Connie Mack.

Months of confusion and indecision over the status of the Athletics was ended when the syndicate of wealthy and prominent Philadelphians bought out Connie and his son, Earl Mack, and made a one-ninth partner of Roy Mack in a $4,000,000 deal.

The syndicate moved with startling speed in concluding the deal that kept the A's from being transferred to Kansas City. It was only last Tuesday that the American League met in Chicago and approved sale of the club to Arnold Johnson, Chicago businessman who wanted to take major league baseball to Kansas City. Roy Mack was given until 11 a. m. (EST) today to make up his mind on whether to sell to Johnson.

BUT THE PHILADELPHIA group, stung in their civic pride with the thought the nation's third largest city was about to lose its American League representative, saved the day, accomplishing a deal in less than 72 hours that no one here seemed able to work out in the four previous months.

The new group, which has al picture, though, Arkansas, their opponent this week, was figured as another soft touch, but the surprising power of the Razorbacks should give a true line as to Mississippi's strength.

Dick Howard Leads With 569

Dick Howard fashioned a 569 series, with 213-187-169, and Mabel Chapman hit 470 (169-159-142) to pace their respective divisions of the Ferraro Mixed League last night.

Runnerup Nippy Jones posted 200-537, Frank Passer 520, Ernie Rowe 507, Frank Houghtaling 504 in the men's loop. Other top female scores included: Marcia Clark 459, Rita La Rocca 457, Laura LeMay 449, Helen Harris 424, Theresa Semmler 423, Ethel Sleight 411.

Team results: Central Lunch 2, Sue's Beauty Shop 1; Lou's Cleaners 2, Team No. 7 (1); Charles Service Station 2, Old Crows 1; Nadler Motors 2, DeCicco Iron & Rad. Works 1; Alpine 2, Styles Express 1; Ulster Engineering 2, Singer's Dept. Store 0.

Ten of Bob Lemon's 23 victories were against first division teams.

Rapp's Express Splits Games

The league leading Rapp's Express was slowed up with an even split in six weekend games in the Hudson Valley Bowling League. But Jones Dairy projected itself in the pennant scramble with a sweep of a home and road match.

Powered by Buster Ferraro's 660, via 231-255-174, the Expressmen copped a 2-1 decision over Liberty Toros at the Bowldrome, but lost 2-1 at Middletown Gay Lounge.

JONES DAIRY swept Middletown Muscos at the Bowldrome with a 651 blast by Larry Weishaupt and 2921 team effort, and then travelled to Liberty for a vital 3-0 win over the tough Toros.

Forst Packing won three from Middletown Lounge at the Bowldrome but dropped a pair to Glenham Rio at the Beacon alleys.

Middletown High Beats Kingston, 25-13, to Share DUSO Lead

Poughkeepsie Shades Port, 14-13; Massa Scores Two TDs for Maroon

It was a strange picture the DUSO League's pre-season prophets found waiting for them Saturday night after two conference clashes which established Middletown High and Newburgh Academy as league leaders.

It's a little too early in the season to predict a winner but at the moment, the Middies and Goldbacks are in the forefront. Each team has a 1-0 record with Kingston and Poughkeepsie already beaten once.

The opportunists of Middletown High established themselves as solid pennant contenders with a thumping 25-13 victory over Kingston High Saturday at Wilson Field.

At the same time, Poughkeepsie High, just ordinary with its gifted runner, Charlie Johnson, sidelined with injuries, had to repel two fourth period thrusts by Port Jervis to nip the Red Raiders, 14 to 13.

Two extra point kicks by Monty Stickle gave Sam Kalloch's Blues their margin of victory, as Dick Pagano, the Port kicker batted only .500 on two attempts.

GENE MASSA scurried 60 yards up the middle and 17 yards off tackle for Kingston's two touchdowns in a rather strange exhibition by the Maroons.

It was a bad day for the Maroons who fumbled five times—three with the Middies recovering each time—failed to complete a pass in six attempts and by an odd twist never had to punt.

Middletown led 13 at the half, picking up a first quarter TD after John Price and Ray Onorati swooped on a Bob Nash fumble on Kingston's 15. After the opening kickoff, five plays later quarterback Artie Myers rammed over from the 3 to make it 6-0. Myers missed the extra kick try.

The Middies moved 56 yards on 9 plays in the second period, with Myers again bucking over from the 3.

KINGSTON TRAILED 19-0 in the third quarter before Gene Massa stirred the crowd with a 60-yard gallop up the middle. A pitchout from Nash the Massa went haywire on the Kingston 45. Ray Onorati swooped it up on the Maroon 40 and went the rest of the way.

The Maroon bounced back on the next kickoff with Massa threading through center on the first play from scrimmage, eluding a couple of line backers and racing unmolested into the end zone.

Later Kingston showed its only sustained power of the day a short while later, marching 86 yards on seven plays. Massa bolted off tackle from the 17 and place kicked the extra point to make it 19-13.

A 20-yard pass play from Myers to Stoltz set up Middletown's final TD late in the game. Stoltz was wrestled down on the Kingston 1 but Cliff Wright crashed over on the next play.

In Kingston's 86-yard trek, Massa, Johnson and Ashdown ripped off huge chunks of real estate for four first downs from the Kingston 37 to Middletown's 17 and Massa was sprung for the TD from that point.

TWO SECOND period touchdowns and Stickle's two vital extra points gave Poughkeepsie its first league triumph.

A 103-yard pass play, George Phillips to Monty Stickle, climaxed a 70-yard touchdown trek for the Blues after Port Jervis had moved 54 yards on five plays to lead 6-0. A 5-yard jump pass from Dick Pencik to Bill Becker was the payoff.

Pagano's kick for the extra point was blocked and it later proved to be a costly miscue. Phillips scored Poughkeepsie's second TD with a 12-yard end sprint. A 37-yard pass play from Pencik to Bob Freytag put the Red Raiders within a point of the Blues, 14-13, but that wasn't enough. The pass was bobbled around on the Poughkeepsie 15 but Freytag plucked it out of the air and scampered the remaining distance.

Port picked up a blocked punt on the Poughkeepsie 26 and later advanced to the Blues 25 in the fourth quarter but the Blues stiffened and held for the downs.

The University of North Carolina football eleven this fall is making it tough for sports writers who may stumble on their spelling. Among the Tar Heel players are Stavinsky, Marcinko, Muschamp, Boyette, Marcupolo and Kiochak.

Wiltwyck Ladies Wind Up Season

Activities for the ladies group at Wiltwyck golf club closed for the season last week with a covered dish supper at the club house.

Mrs. John Dudyk was awarded first prize in the Ringer tournament. Second place went to Mrs. William Lapine and Mrs. Frank Prior cooped third place.

The group also presented Mrs. Frank Prior with a gift in appreciation of her work as president of the auxiliary group during the 1954 golf season.

Mr. America on Wrestling Card

Professional wrestling exhibitions return to the municipal auditorium Tuesday night, with Sonny Jonathan, the Mormon Hurricane meeting Mr. America of New York in the feature bout.

Starting time of the card has been moved up 15 minutes from 8:45 to 8:30 p. m. Mr. America, brother to the original, Gene Stangle, was impressive in his first appearance here a few weeks ago.

JONATHAN a Mormon, is one of the new stars on the TV circuit. The feature bout is a best-of-three falls contest.

In the semi-final feature, highly popular Jack Nichols of Boston goes against Baron Verdi of Italy in a best-of-three falls match, with a 45-minute time limit.

Mickey Gold of Chicago and Abe Zevonkin of Hamilton, Ontario, are paired in the 30-minute curtain raiser.

Gavilan-Saxton Tops Boxing Slate for Week

By MURRAY ROSE (The Associated Press)

Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and challenger Johnny Saxton, both eager to get the affair over with, will make a third attempt Wednesday night to have it out in a 15-round title fight in Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

The twice-postponed bout originally was scheduled for July 14 and then Sept. 1. The first postponement was caused by the Cuban champ's injured right hand and the second when the Keed came down with a virus and the mumps.

The clever, 28-year-old Gavilan still is the 1-2 favorite to make good in his eighth title defense. Saxton, 24, makes his bid with a fine 43-2-2 record. His two losses were by split decisions to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan.

Starting time is 10 p. m., EST. CBS will telecast the bout coast to coast with a 100-mile area around Philadelphia blacked out of the TV.

GERRY DREYER, the former British Empire welterweight champion from South Africa, is a slight favorite to spoil the New York debut of Ramon Tiscareno at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

The 20-year-old Mexican who fights out of Los Angeles is highly touted. But recent invaders from the west have been taking regular beatings and the experts want to wait and see. The 10-round will be telecast by Dumont to some parts of the country starting at 10 p. m., EST.

Paddy Young, hoping to get back in the middleweight top flight, is a 1-2 choice to whip rugged Jesse Turner of St. Louis in the other Monday night TV bout (ABC-TV, 10 p. m., EST) beamed out of Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

When Donald Healey, 56-year-old racing driver, recently broke the world's record with his sports car on a flying mile course (192.63 miles per hour is Healey's new record) at Bonneville Flats, Utah, he additionally broke nine other international and American records.

SIX POINT AERIAL—End Bobby Walton of the Philadelphia Eagles takes a first quarter pass from Adrian Burk as Redskins' halfback Harry Gilmer (12) tries in vain to defend. Walton raced for a T.D. after grabbing the ball in game in Washington (Oct. 17). Eagles won, 49-21. In background are Redskins' tackle Jim Ricca (75) and Eagles' end Pete Pihos (35). (AP Wirephoto).

Arkansas, Army Move To Top of Grid Heap

By ED CORRIGAN (The Associated Press)

This crazy-quilt college football season is approaching the halfway point, and coaches are beginning to think in terms of conference championships and possible bowl bids. Some of the teams that were buried so far down in the pre-season ratings, you had to look at the small print to find them, are right in the thick of things.

Arkansas, for one, could write a real rags-to-riches story if the Razorbacks win the Southwest Conference title. They haven't taken it in 18 years, all the while suffering humiliation after humiliation from the big boys like Texas, Baylor, Rice and Co.

But their stunning 20-7 triumph over Texas last Saturday left them one of the dozen and a half major undefeated teams in the country. What's more, Arkansas is in a position to win the crown and go on to the Cotton Bowl as host club. It's a conference where the unusual is the usual, though. Bowden Wyatt's lads still play Texas A and M, Rice and Southern Methodist, so they could meet their downfall.

AND WHO WOULD have thought Army would emerge as the top team in the east after its wretched showing against South Carolina in the beginning of the season? But the Cadets' fine 28-14 triumph over Duke sent them right to the top in their section.

Both the Big 10 and Ivy League have been surprising. Illinois and Michigan State were expected to make serious bids for the Big 10 title. Both currently are pulling up the rear, while Wisconsin and Ohio State, two of the unbeaten, go at it this Saturday. Out of this could emerge the Rose Bowl team.

Wisconsin pulsed off once-ambitious Purdue 20-6 and Ohio State kept its record spotless by defeating Iowa 20-14. Once-beaten Michigan plays Minnesota for the Little Brown Jug in another game that could have some bearing on the title.

In the Ivy League, Cornell was the heavy favorite, but the Big Red is just playing out the schedule now. Instead, Yale, which hasn't won the championship since 1946, is in a favorable position to come through. The Elis' 47-21 victory over Cornell last week sent them into undisputed possession of the lead since Princeton dropped a 21-20 decision to Brown.

NO ONE SEEMS capable of catching UCLA in the Pacific Coast Conference, but the Bruins can't go back to the Rose Bowl, so they're playing for national honors rather than a post-season game. They massacred Stanford 72-0 in their last outing.

Southern California probably will get the bid if it gets past California Saturday. After that, the Trojans still have games with UCLA, Stanford, Washington and Oregon State. Throw the Uclan game out, and they should have a real trouble.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and sports casters, heads the Big Seven, as usual, Colorado, probably the only club capable of giving the Sooners a healthy workout, looks like the conference's Orange Bowl team since Oklahoma isn't eligible this year.

In the tough Atlantic Coast Conference which supplies the other team for the Orange Bowl, defending national champion Maryland still has a good chance, with Duke and Wake Forest still in the running, too.

UNDEFEATED Mississippi is in a peculiar position. Ol' Miss could win the Southeastern Conference title and go on to the Sugar Bowl and with its soft schedule probably will do just that. The schedule has worked against the rebels in the Nation-

Last Minute Miracle

New Syndicate to Keep Athletics in Philly

Philadelphia, Oct. 18 (AP)—An eight-man Philadelphia syndicate made a dramatic last minute purchase of the Philadelphia Athletics last night saving American League baseball for this city. The action ended the baseball life of one of the game's greatest figures, 91-year-old Connie Mack.

Months of confusion and indecision over the status of the Athletics was ended when the syndicate of wealthy and prominent Philadelphians bought out Connie and his son, Earl Mack, and made a one-ninth partner of Roy Mack in a $4,000,000 deal.

The syndicate moved with startling speed in concluding the deal that kept the A's from being transferred to Kansas City. It was only last Tuesday that the American League met in Chicago and approved sale of the club to Arnold Johnson, Chicago businessman who wanted to take major league baseball to Kansas City. Roy Mack was given until 11 a. m. (EST) today to make up his mind on whether to sell to Johnson.

BUT THE PHILADELPHIA group, stung in their civic pride with the thought the nation's third largest city was about to lose its American League representative, saved the day, accomplishing a deal in less than 72 hours that no one here seemed able to work out in the four previous months.

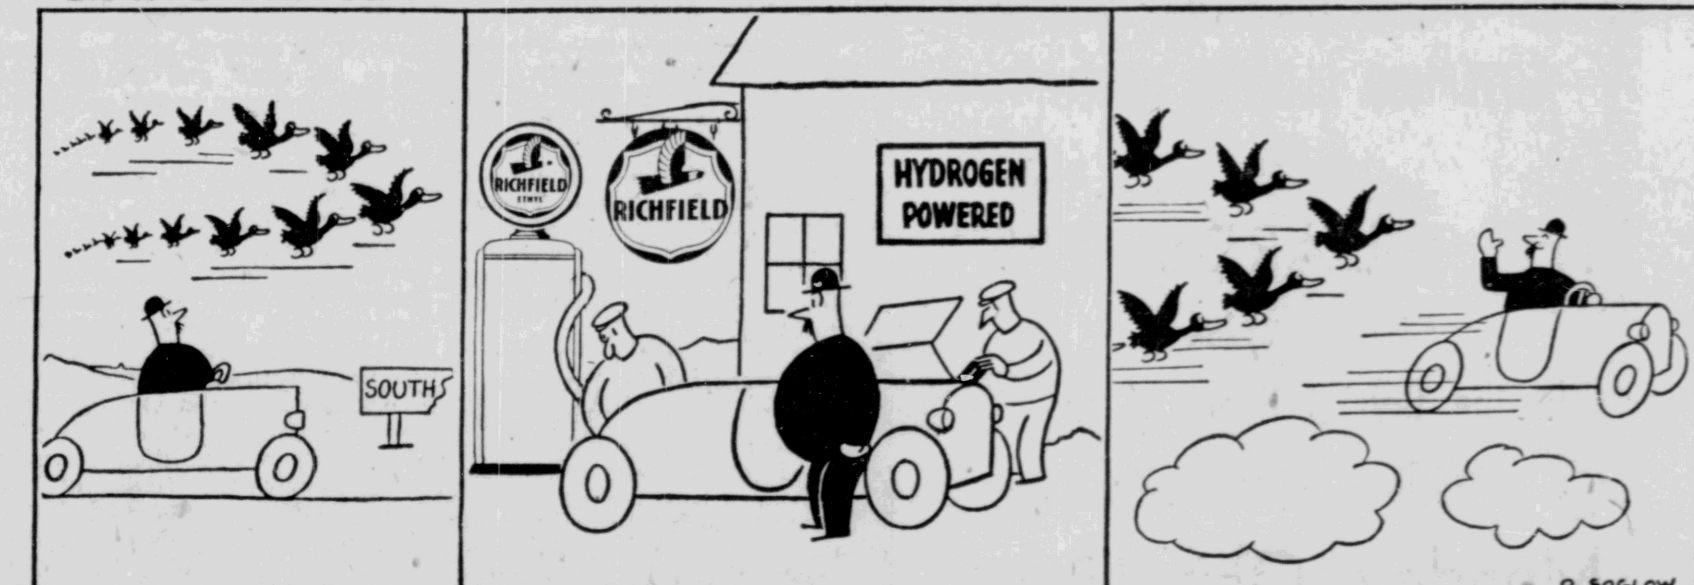

The new group, which has a picture, though, Arkansas, their opponent this week, was figured as another soft touch, but the surprising power of the Razorbacks should give a true line as to Mississippi's strength.

Among the independents, Notre Dame, struggling to recoup from its early reversal by Purdue, probably is the stand-out. The Irish looked Michigan State 20-19 last Saturday and seem to have rebounded well.

Here's how the major unbeaten line up:
East—Yale, Colgate, Boston College and Boston University.
Midwest—Wisconsin, Ohio State, Minnesota and Cincinnati.
Southwest—Arkansas and Oklahoma.
South—Mississippi, Miami (Fla.), West Virginia and VPI.

Campaigners Hit Back at Dewey's Distortion Claims

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Democratic party campaigners have hit back at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's claim of "distortion and misrepresentation" in accusations that his administration was responsible for harness track scandals.

Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch said Saturday that Dewey personally made it possible for Republicans to make fortunes from harness racing. Among other Republican leaders, Balch named Nassau county leader J. Russell Sprague and said he made $600,000 by race track deals.

Balch said Dewey "didn't even hint" at these Republican interests in a television speech last Friday when he replied to Democratic allegations regarding track scandals. These were made in a television film narrated by Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., candidate for attorney general.

IN HIS SPEECH Dewey had said "political figures of both parties owned stock, along with the general public" in harness tracks. However, he claimed that all "gangsters and hoodlums" mentioned by Roosevelt in connection with the tracks were actually "important figures in the Democrat machine."

Balch called Dewey's speech an attempt "to camouflage corruption in his own party and in his own administration."

He said two legislative bills approved by Dewey allowed "Sprague and company to move in on harness racing and thereby making for themselves new fortunes."

"No matter what Dewey says, or doesn't say," Balch continued, "the ink with which his signature was written in both cases clearly shows through the coat of whitewash which he has so painstakingly tried to apply."

SPEAKING IN ITHACA on Saturday, Roosevelt said he would make a statewide telecast Wednesday night "to spell out in complete detail the facts" behind the harness track scandals. He declared, "it was Dewey himself who set up the very foundation on which his Republican party bosses and cronies made their fortunes."

Earlier in Oswego, Roosevelt said he was "amused" by Dewey's broadcast and added that the governor "couldn't answer the simple fact that his close Republican associates . . . all benefited from the harness scandals."

He listed these associates as County Chairman Sprague of Nassau, Thomas J. Curran of New York (Manhattan), John R. Crews of Kings (Brooklyn), Frank Kenna of Queens and D. Mallory Stephens of Putnam.

Most of Nation Has Fair Skies

(By The Associated Press)

Temperatures dropped into the 20s in the Minnesota-Wisconsin sector of the Great Lakes region early today but most of the nation had fair skies.

The exceptions were showers and some snow flurries in the Lake Superior and northern Michigan area, and cloudiness and fog along the west coast. Light rain fell in extreme northwestern Washington.

Early morning temperatures ranged mostly in the 30s and 40s in the northern half of the nation, and in the 50s and 60s across the southern half.

Charges Raise Furore in Erie

Erie, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—Charges that Mayor Thomas W. Flatley and 40 other men are involved in a 20-million-dollar-a-year gambling syndicate left this lake port city in a furore today.

The mayor and the others were arrested in a series of raids Saturday. Flatley is charged with accepting a $300 bribe.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin of Erie county said the mayor signed a statement saying he never received any money from gamblers but received funds for political purposes from Jack Martin, chief police inspector, and Stanley Schwartz, a Democratic party leader.

Martin and Schwartz also were arrested, along with Edward Camili, a member of the city's vice squad, and James Salomine, described by McLaughlin as the "brains" of the syndicate.

McLaughlin quoted Martin and Schwartz as saying the mayor knew the money he received came from gamblers.

McLaughlin said the syndicate was a giant conspiracy among the mayor, certain policemen and gamblers to operate a numbers lottery and pinball machine racket that brought in some 20 million dollars yearly.

Most of the other defendants are proprietors or employees of shoeshine parlors and newsstands.

Only nine major planets are known to astronomers.

Campaigners Hit Back at Dewey's Distortion Claims

New York, Oct. 18 (P)—Democratic party campaigners have hit back at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's claim of "distortion and misrepresentation" in accusations that his administration was responsible for harness track scandals.

Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch said Saturday that Dewey personally made it possible for Republicans to make fortunes from harness racing. Among other Republican leaders, Balch named Nassau county leader J. Russel Sprague and said he made $600,000 by race track deals.

Balch said Dewey "didn't even hint" at these Republican interests in a television speech last Friday when he replied to Democratic allegations regarding track scandals. These were made in a television film narrated by Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., candidate for attorney general.

IN HIS SPEECH Dewey had said "political figures of both parties owned stock, along with the general public" in harness tracks. However, he claimed that all "gangsters and hoodlums" mentioned by Roosevelt in connection with the tracks were actually "important figures in the Democrat machine."

Balch called Dewey's speech an attempt "to camouflage corruption in his own party and in his own administration."

He said two legislative bills approved by Dewey allowed "Sprague and company to move in on harness racing and thereby making for themselves new fortunes."

"No matter what Dewey says, or doesn't say," Balch continued, "the ink with which his signature was written in both cases clearly shows through the coat of whitewash which he has so painstakingly tried to apply."

SPEAKING IN ITHACA on Saturday, Roosevelt said he would make a statewide telecast Wednesday night "to spell out in complete detail the facts" behind the harness track scandals.

He declared, "it was Dewey himself who set up the very foundation on which his Republican party bosses and cronies made their fortunes."

Earlier in Oswego, Roosevelt said he was "amused" by Dewey's broadcast and added that the governor "couldn't answer the simple fact that his close Republican associates * * * all benefited from the harness scandals."

He listed these associates as County Chairman Sprague of Nassau, Thomas J. Curran of New York (Manhattan), John R. Crews of Kings (Brooklyn), Frank Kenna of Queens and D. Mallory Stephens of Putnam.

Johnson Suggests President Shun Election Drive

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 18 (P)—A ranking Democrat suggested yesterday President Eisenhower withdraw from the congressional election campaign.

Otherwise, asserted Senate Minority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), the President could find "himself plunged by his fellow Republicans into one of the worst smear campaigns in history."

The Texas told a Democratic rally a last-ditch smear campaign is being readied by Republicans in three states—Montana, Washington and Wyoming.

DEMOCRATS WILL win in those three states "as long as the campaign is centered on the issues," Johnson said. "But the Republicans have one card left to play. It is the irresponsible talk that the Democratic campaign involves left wingers and that a Democratic Congress would be a left wing Congress."

He said such veteran Democratic senators as Georgia's Walter George and Richard Russell, Virginia's Harry Byrd and Arizona's Carl Hayden would have top committee chairmanships in a Democratic Senate.

"Is there anyone who thinks they are left-wingers?" Johnson asked.

It's all gravy!

When money rolls in that you don't have to work for you say "it's all gravy." This seldom "just happens" in the average lifetime. Usually "gravy money" is the result of foresight and planning. Like the money your savings will earn for you when you deposit them regularly in a savings account. You don't have to lift a hand to earn this "gravy money." But you do have to have the good old-fashioned common sense to know that systematic saving is the one sure way to build financial security for yourself and your family. No time like the present for starting!
